RICHESON DENIES HE'S A MORMON

CLARENCE V. T. RICHESON TODAY IN THE CHARLES STREET JAIL, SPEAKING TO SHERIFF JOHN QUINN, WHO SHOWED HIM THE STORY OF THE CHARGE THAT HE IS A MORMON, MADE THIS STATEMENT:

"THAT IS ABSOLUTELY FALSE."

RESCUE WOMEN IN CHELSEA FIRE

CHURCH LEADERS HERE AND IN WEST ATTACK MRS. BRITTAIN'S STORY

FIFTH EDITION

BOSTON AMERICAN

VOL. 9—No. 49. BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1912. Registered in U. S. Patent Office. PRICE ONE CENT.

Elders of the Mormon church, both in Boston and Salt Lake City, made emphatic denial today of statements in an affidavit by Mrs. Louie E. Brittain, that Clarence V. T. Richeson, slayer of Avis Linnell, is an elder in the Mormon church. Mrs. Brittain, who was a former "queen wife" in the church, repeated her statements and declared she stood ready to face the condemned man if necessary.

Attorney William A. Morse, of counsel for Richeson, denied Mrs. Brittain's charge. He said the affidavit was a "desperate attempt to prejudice the public mind against Richeson."

Elders U. W. Greene of Somerville and Whiteside of Boston declared Richeson never was either a member or elder in the Mormon church. A dispatch from Salt Lake City, from the head of the church, denounces Mrs. Brittain's statement as "false in every respect."

VOTE FOR MERGER OF RAILROADS

Legislative Committee Favor Consolidation of New Haven and Boston & Maine, With Two Tunnels and Electrification

The legislative Committee on Railroads unanimously voted today to permit the New Haven and Boston & Maine railroads to consolidate. The bill which the committee reports to the Legislature provides that the consolidated railroads must spend $80,000,000 in improvements, building two tunnels and electrifying all the New Haven traffic within the Greater Boston district, all within five years.

The bill does not, as reported by the committee, provide for the establishment of the Public Utilities Commission asked for by the Governor.

YORK BEACH HOTEL LOST IN BIG FIRE

YORK, Me., May 8.—The Sea View Hotel and eight other buildings were burned to the ground and the whole Long Sands section of York Beach was threatened early today by a fire which called out 400 volunteer firemen with handlnihs and caused a call for help to be sent to several towns. The loss amounted to $40,000. In the belief that the origin of the fire was suspicious, the York Beach police, headed by Deputy Sheriff W. B. Woodward, started an investigation.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY FOUND IN AN ALLEY

The body of an unidentified man was found today in an alley in the rear of No. 31 Bowdoin street, West End, by the police of Station 3. The body is at the North Grove street morgue. The man is described as about 60 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighing 165 pounds, gray mustache and hair, brown eyes; wore blue coat, brown vest, black trousers, white cotton underwear, black and white striped shirt, black stockings, black lace shoes and a black derby hat.

GERALDINE FARRAR'S THROAT IS BETTER

CHERBURG, May 8.—Geraldine Farrar, the operatic prima-donna, who was suffering from such a severe attack of tonsilitis when she boarded the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm at New York that Dr. George Foster accompanied her across, had fully recovered when the ship arrived here. She motored from here to Paris. Miss Farrar expects to sing in Berlin in about a week.

FIGHT FIRE ON NINTH FLOOR WINDOW SILL

Laddermen Crowley and Toomey of the Fort Hill square fire station stood on a narrow window ledge on the ninth floor of the Delta building in Postoffice square today to extinguish a fire in an awning caused by a lighted cigarette. Five hundred people in the street below watched the laddermen playing a stream on the fire from an extinguisher. The loss was slight.

THE WEATHER.

Unsettled today; with occasional showers; Thursday, fair and warmer; moderate southwest to south winds.

Mrs. Astor No. 1 Plans to Lead Way to Regain Social Place

MRS. AVA WILLING ASTOR, WHO WOULD LEAD SOCIETY

COPYRIGHT BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

MRS. AVA WILLING ASTOR SEEKS EMINENCE HELD BY FORMER HUSBAND'S MOTHER.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Mrs. Ava Willing Astor, the first wife of Colonel John Jacob Astor, will begin a campaign in this city next season to be the leader of New York society, according to a report which rises persistently through the discussion of the disposition of the Astor property.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor sees now, it is said, her opportunity to achieve the leadership held so many years by Colonel Astor's mother, the late Mrs. William Astor, who was known simply as "Mrs. Astor," without any qualifying prefixes being necessary.

Young Widow Lacks Experience.

Whatever plans the first Mrs. Astor had for succeeding to Mrs. Astor's title of society ruler came to an end, for the time being at least, when she divorced Colonel Astor. She lost the tremendous financial backing of the Astor family. The death of Colonel Astor, however, may bring a singular readjustment of family lines.

The second Mrs. Astor, the young widow,

OFFICIALS MUST PAY BACK TAX

City Collector Bowdoin S. Parker of Boston and former city collectors of the city as far back as 1896 have been notified by Tax Commissioner Trefry that they will be held personally responsible for the $360,000 or more in unpaid taxes that have accumulated since that period.

The tax commissioner's notice caused consternation at City Hall. Corporation Counsel Corbett was requested to give an opinion as to the power of the tax commissioner to enforce the new law, recently enacted, under which the notices were sent.

City Collector Parker, fortified by an informal opinion from the corporation counsel that he could not be held personally responsible for any part of the vast sum, changed his mind about immediately resigning his position.

Tax Commissioner Trefry also notified former City Collector Charles R. Brown and former Collector Garret W. Scollard that they were responsible for the unpaid taxes for over three years that were permitted to accumulate during their administrations.

The tax commissioner has sent similar notices to every city and town in the Commonwealth.

Empowered by Law.

The notices are sent out under the provision of Chapter 272 of the Acts of 1912 which provides in substance that after taxes have remained uncollected for over three years the tax commissioner may bring an action of contract against the collector to compel him to meet his delinquencies. He is further empowered to sue upon the bond of the collector in case the collector is not personally able to meet any judgment that may be secured.

The new law particularly affects Boston because for many years the city has been able to collect but a small percentage of the poll taxes levied. Last year there were in round numbers 155,000 polls levied and of this number but 59 per cent were collected.

The percentage of poll taxes collected for many years has never run over 35 per cent, and in a number of years it has not reached 20 per cent. The city collector of Boston is bonded for $75,000.

When City Collector Bowdoin S. Parker received his notification from the tax commissioner that he would be held responsible for unpaid taxes he commmunicated with Mayor Fitzgerald who got in touch with Corporation Counsel Corbett. The latter's informal opinion was that the tax commissioner could not expect collectors to accomplish impossibilities in order to collect taxes and that after three years had elapsed and the department had been unable to collect the money, the taxes were abated.

Gets Year's Leeway.

Collector Parker also consulted Tax Commissioner Trefry, and the latter informed him that he would grant a year of grace to the collector over the time limit in which he would sue for unpaid taxes. City collector Parker interjects the decision of the tax commissioner to mean that after the first tax warrant he was called upon to collect was not placed in his hands until July 21, 1910, that the first of the taxes would not have been three years unpaid under his warrant until July 21, 1913, and consequently with the year of grace added, no suit could be brought against him until July, 1914. By that time a new Mayor will be officiating at City and the probability is a new collector. Consequently City Collector Parker need not worry.

"Until I hear from Mr. Corbett, I will have nothing to say," said Mr. Scollard, when asked about the matter today.

Tax Commissioner Trefry says that he has notified former city collectors Nathaniel Taylor, and Courtenay Guildin addition to Scollard, Brown and Parker.

The tax commissioner stated that he could not say whether he would begin suit against the collectors to secure the money. He announced that it was his intention to wait six months to see how the new law works out.

Rescue Two Women From Chelsea Fire

Mrs. McDowell, 70 Years Old, Leaps From Window. Daughter-in-law Is Taken From the Roof.

Mr. and Mrs. Trish F. McDowell, each seventy years old, and their son and young daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. McDowell, had narrow escapes from a fire which did $2,500 damage to their home at No. 243 Washington avenue, in the fashionable residential district of Chelsea early today.

Mrs. Uriah McDowell, after being assisted down two flights of stairs by her daughter-in-law, insisted on returning up stairs for more clothing. She became lost in the smoke, kicked out a second-story window and jumped into the arms of Dr. Frank S. Garrett, a neighbor, who caught her. Both fell and Mrs. McDowell's left ankle was sprained. Dr. Hackett was called and reduced.

Meanwhile, the younger Mrs. McDowell, fearing her mother-in-law was being suffocated upstairs, went to the second floor and then to the attic, seeking her. Finally the younger woman was driven by smoke to escape by way of the skylight. She was taken from the roof a few minutes afterward by Deputy Chief Williamson and Lieutenant Casserly of the Chelsea fire department, who went up a sixty-foot ladder and took her to the ground.

The old couple slept on the third or attic floor. Dr. McDowell and his young wife slept on the ground floor. Dr. McDowell has suffered so severely from rheumatism of late he has been in bed most of the time. He was awakened at 3:30 a. m. by the crackling of flames.

Mrs. McDowell arose and found the first floor living rooms filled with fire and smoke. She got to the stairs, ran to the third floor and aroused her parents-in-law. Uriah McDowell got down and with much difficulty, helped Dr. McDowell from the bed to the veranda. Meanwhile the younger Mrs. McDowell assisted the elder down stairs.

It was then the elder Mrs. McDowell, who had already had night clothing, said she must return to her room for more clothes.

HOLBROOK PASTOR, FOE OF EVILDOERS, CALLED TO COURT

HOLBROOK, Mass., 8.—On the charge he threw a ten-year-old boy out of his church after being disturbed by his sermon, Rev. D. H. Keyes, pastor of the Methodist church and campaigner against vice, today was served with a summons to court. The action by Chief of Police Walter O. Crocker, it is believed, has started a long struggle.

The complainant against Mr. Keyes is Alfred Chapman, who declares his son Russell was put out of the Methodist church Sunday night after the pastor finished his sermon. The father says his boy was rudely and violently shaken. He said he will press an assault and battery charge against the preacher when he appears in the Quincy district court Friday morning.

LYNN HEALTH BOARD GIVES 'DON'TS'; WARN AGAINST THE CLAM

The Lynn Board of Health through Chairman Ward today issued a circular giving the following "don'ts:" Don't give your mouse cleaning absent treatment. Hot water, soap and a little elbow grease will save doctor's bills. Don't forget to swat the flies. Don't cut raw clams. Never eat a clam bought from the pails of Lynn, they are full of all kinds of dirt. Cook your clams 40 minutes or four hours, the longer the better. Don't bring your troubles to the Board of Health. It has its troubles of its own.

Telephone Company Seeks New Culprits

Officials of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company thrust a probe deep into the bookkeeping and auditing department of the corporation today to uncover, if possible, the extent of padded payroll swindles which are now charged against four employes.

These four employes, whose bail on arrest was fixed at $5,000, were arraigned in Boston Municipal Court today. Meanwhile other arrests are expected. Officials of the telephone company and the police are convinced that no complicated was the system of payroll padding and "dummy envelope" work that a considerable number of persons must have been implicated in it.

The actual amount of money entered against the four defendants is not large, not over $25,000, it is said. But the officials believe that a much larger amount will be involved before the case is cleared up.

Four Men Arraigned.

The men assigned were Frank H. Jelli son, chief clerk, thirty-four years, married, No. 221 Spring street, Medford; Frank P. Hopper, assistant paymaster, thirty-four years, single, 105 Norway street; Chester Wood, storekeeper, twenty-six years, single, No. 400 Beacon street, Somerville; Benjamin Scudder, clerk, twenty one, single, No. 909 Cambridge street, Cambridge.

According to the police and the telephone officials, one of the methods by which the company has been defrauded is as follows: Bills were printed similar to forms used by the company for issuing. These were filled in with dummy names, the company says, and charges made for material which it is alleged was never used.

Checks Sent Out.

The bills were sent to the auditor's office and checks for the amounts named were sent to the mythical persons at addresses which had been given on the bills. Just how the alleged conspirators got the checks that were sent to the dummies through the mails has not yet been ascertained.

Love Thought Cause of Pastor's Flight

Disappointment in love is believed to be back of the disappearance of Rev. Luther B. Grice from the Shady Hill Free Will Baptist Church, Middlesex, Vt., and his appearance in Boston, where he tried to enlist in the navy. It was expected the young clergyman would return to the recruiting office today, as he appeared sincere in his intention to enlist.

Before leaving Vermont as a soldier, He disappeared from the Vermont farm where he made his home first Sunday morning. His friends thought he had gone for a walk before services. He was not heard from until he appeared at the navy recruiting station, where he made an attempt to conceal his identity. The New Hampshire friends of the young clergyman have kept secret the identity of the young woman with whom he is in love. It is believed he wished to wed, but saw no hope on his salary of $300 a year.

Mrs. Chapman Held for Trial May 20

Mrs. Jessie M. Chapman of Lynn, charged with murder in shooting Mrs. Evy F. Ingalls, on March 6, was before the Essex Superior Criminal Court at Salem today, pleaded not guilty and was held without bail for trial on May 20, with the provision that she is to be examined meanwhile as to her sanity.

At the time of the shooting of Mrs. Ingalls it was said that insanity might be set forth in defense of Mrs. Chapman. But Police Chief Thomas M. Burckes of Lynn was quoted as saying:

"We have sufficient evidence to show a long chain of acts of premeditation on the part of Mrs. Chapman to murder Mrs. Ingalls."

ELDERS ATTACK MRS. BRITTAIN.

Elder Greene said:

"I deny emphatically that Richeson was ever a Mormon, according to the statement of Mrs. Brittain, and as he is positive to know something about the matter, I was present at the conference in Providence and have evidence in my possession to prove who was there. Mrs. Brittain was not there, neither was Richeson present.

"I know the persons who were there and I have a record of their meeting. It seems strange to me that Mrs. Brittain should have taken an affidavit to this effect. In fact, this person has been saying a number of queer things lately and I do not think that we can put much credence to her assertions.

"It is absolutely wrong to misrepresent that meeting in Providence as Mrs. Brittain has done upon several occasions. She did it when she made her speech recently in Park Street Church against the Latter Day Saints.

"She was present at the meeting in Fall River. Her ex-husband, I believe, there was trying. She will say one thing about Mormonism and confound it with the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints. She has often called on me, but I have been obliged to have a witness present, when she had anything to say because she has been given to misrepresentations.

"The time will come when the general public will find for out, but her affidavit in the morning papers is made out of whole cloth and I am going to communicate with the directors of the Evangelical Alliance so they will understand the false light that she has put upon many matters."

Others Deny Assertion.

A dispatch from Kansas City, Mo., today stated that Bishop E. L. Kelly of the Mormon church had denounced himself and Richeson never joined the church. Officials at William Jewell College, where Richeson studied, said, as far as they knew, Richeson had never joined the Mormon church.

Mrs. Brittain today came to Boston to the office of the Boston Evangelical Alliance in Tremont Temple.

"Oh, my, the Mormons will murder me sure sake," she declared. "I'll now order the gas and get rid of all of this, then papers. I didn't think that it would appear."

"Did you write the affidavit she was asked.

"Yes," she replied, "but I didn't think it would get in in that way."

While at the office Mrs. Brittain swore to her statements, said she and several clergymen had investigated and they were satisfied the affidavit was founded on the truth. It was because of this, the lawyer said, that the facts were made public.

Morse Attacks Affidavit.

Mr. Morse said:

"Clarence Richeson was never married to Avis Linnell, and she never thought she was. We will demonstrate that in due time. Furthermore, up to the time he met Avis Linnell, there never had been any immorality in Richeson's conduct. The government will bear me out in this statement, because they, as we did, investigated every minute of his life.

MORSE ATTACKS RICHESON STORY

"Richeson is not a Mormon. He never was a Mormon and never had any tendencies or connections in that direction. In 1909 when this woman says he was in New York he was in Hyannis. He went there in 1908 in the Fall and was not out of the town until he came to the Cambridge church in the Fall of 1910. That is the only definite statement to which any sort of date is attached in the affidavit.

"That statement is absolutely false and it would be equally easy to demonstrate the falsity of every other statement if she had been sufficiently definite in her assertions to give us anything upon which to work.

"This affidavit is a desperate attempt to prejudice the public mind against Richeson. I assert that when a man is fighting for his life as Richeson is, such a flimsy array of statements as this should not be held against him.

"I am informed that Mrs. Brittain's conduct is such as to cause remark. For instance, she goes about wearing a blanket like an Indian. My informant is Assistant District Attorney Lavelle, who lives near her. I believe she has been worked up so she does not know what she is doing."

Elder Whiteside, one of the principal Mormons of Boston, stated today Richeson is not a Mormon and added that Mrs. Brittain was excommunicated by the church a year ago.

In her statement Mrs. Brittain avers she believes Avis Linnell was the "celestial wife" of Richeson.

Ready to Face Him.

"If it is my duty," said Mrs. Brittain today, "to face Elder Richeson with the facts that I have related, and if the authorities permit, I will tell him just what I have stated in my sworn statement.

"Elder Richeson was a proselyter for the Mormon church. I know that he did a great deal of this work in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York. He spent much of his time doing such work in the homes. Most of it was done during the day, when the men were absent. I am familiar with the work of proselyting, as I have done a great deal of it myself. This was before I severed my connection with the Mormon church. Of my connection with the sect I am heartily ashamed.

"Richeson was a true Mormon. As an elder of that church he would not be a true Mormon unless he did proselyte.

"I consider it my solemn duty to disclose what I knew about Elder Richeson right now when there is time, and not after he is dead.

"I have met Mrs. M. Grant Edmunds in connection with her missionary work. She is prominent in that work. I never met any of the Linnells, but if what I have told will be of any comfort to them I am glad to have told it."

"Gave Secret Sign of Mormonism."

The woman who tells this astonishing chapter in the supposed man's life was not a Mormon most of her life, she was the "celestial wife" of Ben E. Rich of New York, head of the Mormon organization in the East. She is vouched for by the Boston Evangelical Alliance, under whose auspices she is fighting Mormonism.

Woman Made Affidavit.

It was suggested in this connection that a few days ago a rumor was current to the effect that Richeson's defence and fight for commutation were being financed by a powerful secret society.

Mr. Morse denied this rumor absolutely, and stated that he, Mr. Lee, and Mr. Edmunds were back of the fight for Richeson's life, and they three alone.

Mr. Morse said:

It's a lie. I want you to print in big type that I say the whole story is a lie from beginning to end. I know Richeson's life story thoroughly, and the statement that he has been a Mormon is a wicked, foolish, ridiculous lie.

Mrs. Brittain's sworn declaration reads in full as follows:

Boston, May 6, 1912.

I, Lonie E. Brittain, do on oath depose and say that I have known Clarence V. T. Richeson, former pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Cambridge, for several years as a Mormon elder and secretly connected with the Mormon organization of the United States.

The first time that I remember seeing Elder Clarence V. T. Richeson was in New York city in the year 1909 at a Mormon conference held just west of Sailors' Snug Harbor on Staten Island. I cannot remember the name of the exact location, but I remember the name of the people with whom we stopped particularly well. Their name was Kitel.

It was a sort of a private conference that was held there by ten or fifteen of the Mormon elders, including Elder Clarence V. T. Richeson and some of the saints. It was a sort of a facewell party to some of the saints who were going to the West—to Zion. I remember him particularly on that occasion for the active part he took in the merrymaking.

I remember, also, meeting him on the streets and various other places in Boston afterward at various times, and, of course, always recognized him and gave him the secret sign of Mormonism, which he returned.

Woman Owes Obedience.

The sign that was usually given to him was that which could be given ordinarily by a Mormon woman of the higher courts to a Mormon elder, viz., that of obedience.

I saw him a little over a year ago in Providence, R. I., at a Mormon conference. There were at that conference some of the head officials of the Mormon organization and the original Mormon organizations.

As I remember Elder Clarence V. T. Richeson at that time, he requested the closing prayer before the dance of the evening began. The entertainment part of the conference was held in honor of the converts, who had been recently initiated into the Mormon organization.

I remember him, also, particularly at one Mormon priesthood meeting held in the Intercolonial Building in the Roxbury district of Boston soon after the Providence meeting, where he was prominent through the way in authority over the meeting. At this time I remember him particularly because of a command which came through one of the elders in the meeting, he seconded, and to which I took exception, so that I could not tell to know him, for I not only disobeyed the one that had the revelation, but I also willfully disobeyed Elder Clarence V. T. Richeson.

Passed Secret Signs.

After this time, from that time until the time of Richeson's arrest, I remember seeing him several times preaching in his pulpit, in open air meetings and elsewhere, and always recognized him as a Mormon and he recognized me as such by the secret signs of Mormonism.

I have always considered Elder Clarence V. T. Richeson a member of the Mormon organization in good and perfect standing, and do to the present day, and believe him to be considered so by the Mormon organization.

While it is not common, it is not unusual to find the more churches of the Mormon elders preaching in the pulpits of evangelical churches which baptise by immersion.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 6th day of May, A. D., 1912.

WM. A. THIBODEAU,
Justice of the Peace.

This statement was afterward amplified by Mrs. Brittain in a verbal statement.

Is Not Prejudiced.

"I want is understood that there is no personal malice or interest in this statement," said she. "I mentioned to Mrs. George W. Coleman and others of my friends that I knew Mr. Richeson as a Mormon elder, and at their suggestion consulted Mr. Thibodeau. It is true that I was a former Mormon, and even though I was baptized into the Christian faith by the Rev. James W. Gillies, now pastor of the Pentecostal Church of Somerville, the Mormon Church still regards me as a member until a lecture against its tenets which I delivered in the Park Street Church in March.

"In the eyes of the Mormon faith, Richeson did not do anything improper when he had relations with Avis Linnell and other women, who, according to the laws of the faith, became his celestial wives, but he did a very unwise thing in the eyes of the church when he committed murder and confessed to doing so.

"Richeson had the power in the Mormon faith, owing to his high position, to marry himself to any woman, and it is thought that he sent through such a ceremony with Avis Linnell, which gave her the impression that she was doing nothing wrong.

"There are three kinds of marriages in the Mormon faith, the 'Time Marriage,' which is man's law, 'Time and Eternity,' which is looked upon as man's and God's law, and 'Eternity,' which is called God's law.

CLARK WINS IN MICHIGAN

Speaker Champ Clark wins the delegates to Baltimore from Michigan, the entire set of delegates being assured the Speaker as a State that was claimed to be safe for Governor Wilson.

With 987 of the 1,357 delegates to the Democratic State Convention to be held in Bay City, Wednesday, May 15, elected, it is apparent that Governor Wilson will not have enough instructed delegates to insure him control. He now has 388, while uninstructed delegates to the number of 549 have been chosen. As it requires 679 votes to control, Wilson must win more than two-thirds of the remaining 420.

Speaker Clark won a sweeping victory in the State of Washington, a State solidly claimed for Governor Wilson. Dispatches from Walla Walla announce that of the 697 delegates to the State convention Clark had a total of 455. Bryan, his betrayed opponent, had 135, Wilson 106 and Harmon 112. An attempt made to stampede the convention for Bryan failed. The convention indorsed Clark for President. The State has fourteen delegates to the national convention.

Milady's Toilet Table

By Mme. D'MILLE

A simple home treatment that makes the hair long, wavy and luxurious is to dry shampoo frequently with a mixture of four ounces of orris root and an original package of Sherox. Sprinkle a tablespoonful on the head; then brush thoroughly through the hair. All dirt, dust and dandruff will be removed, the scalp refreshed and the hair made clean, light and glossy.

A lovely, soft and youthful complexion will be yours if you use a solution made by dissolving an original package of magnolene in eight ounces of witch hazel. Gently rub over the face, neck and arms night and morning, and the skin will be clear, smooth, fair and pliant.

To stop headache, or seize in back or limbs, reduce swelling, allay inflammation, relieve pain in any part of the body, apply Mother's Salve. The world never saw its equal as a pain killer.

Any woman can easily and finally remove wild hairs from face or forearms. Just mix enough powdered delatone and water to cover the hairs; apply and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

LICENSING BOARD FOR THE CITY OF BOSTON

MAY 1, 1912.

To Holders of Liquor Licenses in the City of Boston

The attention of licensees is called to the following sections of the Revised Statutes, chapter 100, sections 60, 61 and 62.

SECT. 60. Whoever, being the holder of a license for the sale of intoxicating liquors to be drunk on the premises employs any person under the age of eighteen years to serve such liquors therein or permits any person under such age to drink such liquors therein, shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars.

SECT. 61. Whoever employs a minor under the age of eighteen years in handling intoxicating liquors or packages containing such liquors in a brewery or bottling establishment in which such liquors are prepared for sale or offered for sale shall, for each offence, be punished by a fine of not more than fifty dollars or by imprisonment for not less than three months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The provisions of this section shall not prohibit the employment of minors in drug stores.

SECT. 62. Whoever, himself or by his agent or servant, sells or gives intoxicating liquors to a minor, either for his own use, the use of his parent or of any other person, or allows a minor to enter upon the premises where such sales are made, shall forfeit one hundred dollars for each offence, to be recovered by the parent or guardian of such minor to an action of tort. Actions for penalties under the provisions of this section shall be commenced within six months after the offence has been committed, and not afterward. The provisions of this section shall not apply to sales made by the holder of a license of the sixth class if made upon the written prescription of a practising physician.

The following Act of 1912, Chapter 532, was approved April 25, 1912.

SECT. 1. Whoever being a minor, and not less than seventeen years of age, makes a false statement as to his or her age in order to procure a sale or delivery of intoxicating liquor to such minor, or to the age of a minor in order to procure a sale or delivery of intoxicating liquor to such minor or for the use of the minor or for the use of some other person, and whoever induces a minor to make a false statement as to his or her age in order to procure a sale or delivery of intoxicating liquor to such minor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and may be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars.

SECT. 2. Nothing in this act shall be construed to repeal or affect section sixty-two of chapter one hundred of the Revised Laws.

The Board wishes to emphasize the fact that the responsibility of licensees and of their employees for the sale of liquor to MINORS OF EITHER SEX is in no way lessened by this act, and that all violations of the above sections relating thereto will be severely punished.

KING REVIEWS 125 WARSHIPS

PORTLAND, Eng., May 8.—After being fog-bound off the Isle of Weight all night, King George arrived at Weymouth today on the Imperial yacht Victoria and Albert to review the British fleet of 125 battleships. The Victoria and Albert was unable to leave the Solent until shortly before dawn, arriving at Weymouth at 8:30. The battleships thundered a twenty-one-gun salute as the royal yacht hove in view.

Weymouth was crowded with thousands who assembled along the harbor front. As the Victoria and Albert cruised through the lines of battleships, King George stood on the bridge. Later he went on board the battleship Neptune.

In addition to reviewing the fleet the king comes to act as official umpire in a mimic sea battle. The blue fleet is to defend the southern coast of England against an attack by the red squadron.

The present manoeuvres of the fleet takes on especial interest because of hydro-aeroplane flights. A new device to silence the noise of the motors is being used for the first time. It is a sound proof helmet, designed to cover the motor like a hood.

MISS EITHEL KELLY, WHO DENIES SHE IS TO MARRY BUSCH

Miss Kelly is sister of Mrs. Frank J. Gould. She is eighteen years old and an actress.

ACTRESS ONLY BUSCH'S FRIEND

NEW YORK, May 8.—"There are many girls in Mr. Busch's heart. I am only one of the number," said pretty little Eithel Kelly, the eighteen-year-old actress sister of Mrs. Frank J. Gould, when asked if she is to wed Adolphus Busch III., son of August A. Busch of St. Louis and heir to millions. According to reports current along Broadway (the father of the young man, who has just attained his majority, has called in the services of detectives to prevent an elopement.

"People in and out of the theatre are looking at me askance," continued the young singer and dancer. "Threats have been made that my contract would be cancelled if I did not give Adolphus up. I have been informed that detectives are dogging my footsteps to prevent an elopement to Connecticut. I do not know whether Adolphus' parents fear he intends to marry me. If so, their fears are unfounded. Adolphus and I are good friends, that is all.

A dispatch from St. Louis added young Busch's denial to the report of his intended marriage.

"I am working for a nominal salary," said the young man, who is slender in build and exceedingly youthful in appearance. I have not enough money of my own to support a wife.

"I met Miss Kelly several months ago, when she was playing in St. Louis," continued young Busch. "We dined together several times. I admire her very much, but my regard for her is no more than it is for several young women, whom I value as my friends and acquaintances. My associations with Miss Kelly were so casual in nature that this report is ridiculous.

CAMPERS MUST HAVE LICENSE TO BUILD A FIRE IN WOODS NOW

Campers take warning!

If you plan a canoe trip, or a night out of doors, and expect to cook your supper and breakfast on an open fire, get a license to build that fire. Otherwise you are liable to a fine of $20 or more.

Amateur gardeners, Spring cleaners, small boy celebrators and all others are hereby warned that under the new State law no rubbish fire, bonfire or other outdoor blaze may be set until October 1. Nor is the law by any means a dead letter, for the police very generally are looking to its enforcement.

In the towns the license is to be obtained from the fire wards; in the cities from the Board of Aldermen or other officials.

Other regulations provide for having at hand water and other means of preventing any possible spread of the fire.

From October 1 to April 1 no license is required to burn rubbish, to set a fire in the woods or make a bonfire.

The whole purpose of the restrictive law in the districts where there are forest stretches is to prevent the depletion of the woodlands.

DANCE TEACHERS BAN 'BUNNY HUG'

The dancing teachers of cultured Boston are shocked at the wave of what they term improper and objectionable dancing which is sweeping across the country and supplanting the time-honored art of terpsichore.

They hold up their hands in horror when asked their opinion of the "Bunny Hug," "Turkey Trot," "Bear Cat Glide" and the numerous other freak dances which have gradually crept into common use at balls and parties in and around Boston.

"Such dances are a disgrace," said one of the leading Boston dancing teachers today. "Some of the positions the dancers assume are not only an outrage but are positively disgusting. No self-respecting person would ever think of dancing with both arms around his or her partner and when they have their arms around each other the dance, bad, pure and simple as it is, becomes a menace to the morals of the community."

Dancing circles in Boston were much agitated today over the interference of the police at a dance given by the Chi Sigma Phi Club at the Park Casino at Providence, when Paul Fletcher, son of Mayor Fletcher, of Providence, was present.

The Chi Sigma Phi Club is composed of eight young women of excellent social position. They say the police were "insulting" and "disgraceful." The police say they were told to stop improper dancing and they did so.

"When Is Dance Improper?"

Hence the question: "When is dancing improper, and who is to judge?"

The Boston dancing teachers are united in their attitudes on the Providence affair.

Mrs. Lilla Viles Wyman said:

"Perhaps these people in Providence were dancing the 'Bunny cuddle hug.' Of course, I don't know what the conditions at that particular ball were, but I do think that these new dances are perfectly awful, and I believe that what is suited for the cheap dance hall is sauce for the society ball. If people want to do crazy stunts in their own homes, it may be all very well, but why they should want to indulge in such disgusting antics in public is more than I can see.

"It is not so bad in Boston. But in New York these disgusting dances are seen not only in cheap dance halls, but in so-called best society. I don't know what we're coming to, but people that are so shocked at L'Aiglon and the Bal Tabarin in Paris do things not much better at home.

"Signor Ferrerro says that our too great prosperity is carrying us along the road that Rome took. Perhaps he is right. At any rate, I think that these awful dances ought to be stopped."

Prefers Old Dances.

Mrs. Annie V. Sharp, manager of the Dorothy Dix School for professional dancers, said:

"Yes, these modern dances are certainly suggestive, especially when the dancers go so far as to twine their arms about each other. Personally, I prefer the good old style of dance—even if we are carried back to 'The Minuet' and the square dance. It would have been impossible for our grandmothers to indulge in the modern vulgar dances."

ASTOR MAY AID MOTHER IN SOCIAL CAMPAIGN

his wealth and beauty, but not the extent of the intimate alliance that Mrs. Ava Willing Astor has built up through years of social finesse.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor remodelled her dower rights at the time of her marriage to a annual income of $40,000 a year, according to the accepted report. When she divorced Colonel Astor it was said she was given an additional $50,000 a year on condition of remaining unmarried. This would make her total income $100,000 while she remains unwed.

A cablegram was received from Paris last night that Mrs. Ava Willing Astor is engaged to wed Maurice Rostand. This report has been current before. Mrs. Astor who is staying at the Ritz-Carlton, refuses to discuss the rumor.

But to maintain such a social campaign as it is said she is contemplating, Mrs. Ava Willing Astor may be able to reckon on another and most powerful financial ally—her son, William Vincent Astor, heir to the Astor estate.

Rich Son as Ally.

When Vincent Astor comes of age next November he will be in absolute possession of $7,000,000. He will be the richest young man in America.

He will be absolute master of this enormous property. His trustees will be no fault to the assistance he can give his mother if he wishes. In attaining the social supremacy his paternal grandmother held.

Mrs. Ava Willing Astor will return to England, but will be back in this country in a few months to prosecute, it is understood, her ample social campaign.

The present period of mourning does not permit intimate friends of either Mrs. Astor or the young widowed bride, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor, to discuss their probable rivalry for social prestige. But it is considered that the woman of the two who wins the personal support of William Vincent Astor will be socially recognized as THE Mrs. Astor prior to Vincent's marriage.

Another point of information supplied to the AMERICAN by an undisputed authority should set at rest the gossip and report of a contemplated immediate marriage by Vincent Astor. This person, a close friend of the young man, said:

No Plans for Wedding.

"I am sure that Vincent Astor does not intend to be married in the immediate future. That he would attempt this before reaching his majority next November is considered unlikely. He is a very level headed young man, and we are eager to respect the counsel of the men who are serving him in directing his great fortune.

"Of course it is natural for the possessor of such an immense fortune to desire to wed. But it may be announced as a certainty that Vincent Astor is not now engaged to marry any girl. After November 25 next he may decide.

"Mr. Astor is energetic, but he dislikes publicity fully as much as his father did. He realizes that the position as head of the great Astor family places him prominently before the public. But he will endeavor as far as lies within his power to avoid seeking publicity at all times. For many weeks to come he will be in almost daily conferences concerning his properties."

In his own behalf Mr. Astor declared that he will remain an American. This denial has been printed by his friends.

His future residence has not been announced. At present he retains his rooms at the Fifth avenue mansion, which now belongs to the widow, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor. Very shortly, however, he is expected to remove from that house. He may occupy apartments or a house in New York still to be selected, or he may take up his domicile at the estate on the Hudson, near Rhinebeck.

Mansion Upkeep High.

Mr. Astor spends at much time as is possible to spare from his conferences at the offices of the Astor estate with his mother in her apartments at the Ritz-Carlton. There he dined with Mrs. Astor and his little sister, Miss Alice, on Monday and Tuesday evenings.

The future plans of the widow are unknown. She has been at the tomb of her husband daily since the burial, and seems too broken down with grief and preparations for her approaching motherhood to take notice of matters concerning her future social prospects.

In receiving the great house at No. 840 Fifth avenue, Mrs. Madeline Force Astor has fallen heir to an expensive institution. With the immense income of Colonel Astor the maintenance of this palace was only an incident. That this figure may have ranged from $85,000 to $95,000 annually and a total outlay, including taxes, of $140,000, is not quite cause for worry to the Colonel or his mother before him.

Social functions at such homes along the avenue, where the invitations generally provide for the entertainment of 500 people, have cost $20,000 to $25,000. Families who have contested for social supremacy with such a home as the Astor mansion have given expensive "affairs" every second week during the town season.

One thousand dollar orchestras were the custom in the Astor home. Musicales have been given there and elsewhere at which operatic stars have appeared at prices running close to $5,000. The most expensive features of some entertainments have been the favors provided at an expense often running into five figures. The florists have reaped small fortunes for decorations and cut flowers.

ALL THINKING CRAZY THOUGHTS

Everybody's thinking 'em! Thinking what? Crazy Thoughts. How do we know. By the number of Crazy Thought letters which the AMERICAN'S Crazy Thought editor is getting.

Readers say, "Well, this contest may be crazy, but that offer of prizes doesn't look crazy. The prize for the best Crazy Thought of the week is $50. Then there are $20 more, to be divided among the next fifty best Crazy Thoughts. And there are 150 Tad "Silk Hat Harry" books for additional Crazy Thought winners.

The Crazy Thought Editor is crazy about giving prizes, especially when he gets a fine lot of Crazy Thoughts in every mail.

Crazy Thoughts a-Plenty.

Here are some of the latest:

It may be all right
To wear a bobbie skirt,
BUT
I'm glad it isn't customary
To wear one if you're a commuter.

It may be all right
For a man to love his train at night,
BUT
I'm glad it isn't customary
For the wife who cooks, irons, washes and mends the hole of 42 urchins for school to sit up for him.
(Mrs. Barker, 249 Shawmut ave., city).

It may be all right
For Wilson to be President,
BUT
I'm glad it isn't customary
To ask women's opinion.
(Stella Kneeland, 10 Champney pl., Rox.)

I Love My Wife, But—

It may be all right
To spend with a girl,
BUT
I'm glad it isn't customary
To have your wife around.

Now sit down and write a Crazy Thought yourself. Maybe you will win $50, or some other prize. Then you would be crazy, wouldn't you?

Just another word of instruction. Mail your Crazy Thoughts to the AMERICAN Crazy Thought Editor, No. 5 Winthrop square, Boston. Write them on the blanks printed in the AMERICAN, or on postcards and get them in early.

Crazy Thoughts will be received up to Thursday for the first week's contest. Those received after Thursday will go on next week.

The winners of the Crazy Thought prizes will be announced every week in the Sunday AMERICAN. Better leave your order now, so as to be sure of a copy.

NO ESCAPES, 44 IN FIRE DANGER

The Dagmar Chambers, No. 209 Huntington avenue, a five-story structure in which at least 200 persons, mostly college girls, lived, and which was badly damaged by fire, was not equipped with fire escapes.

Lack of fire escapes in the Dagmar Chambers was disclosed by an investigation by the AMERICAN. The building was inspected by the Building Department during the latter part of July, 1910, according to an official of this department.

When the lack of fire escapes on this building was called to the attention of Building Commissioner Arthur G. Everett he declared:

"It is quite possible that additional means of egress were required from this building. It may have been a fire trap. There may be other buildings in Boston lacking fire escapes, for all I know to the contrary. We are inspecting buildings as fast as we can with the force of inspectors at our command.

In addition to the lack of fire escapes the AMERICAN'S investigation disclosed the following facts:

Elevator Well of Wood.

That the elevator well was constructed of wood, although the building ordinances require the use of non-inflammable material in the construction of elevator wells.

That the only means of egress were by two stairways, one leading to the cellar, the other to the street, both of which were so narrow as to prevent two persons from walking down abreast.

That both stairways were constructed of wood and burned like tinder.

That fire in the lower part of the house which gained any headway would pen in persons in the upper part of the house.

For the purpose of ascertaining the reason for the failure of the building, in which lived over two score of persons, to be properly provided with fire escapes, an AMERICAN reporter called upon Building Commissioner Everett.

When were the Dagmar Chambers inspected last?" Mr. Everett was asked.

"I do not know. It is manifestly impossible for me to keep track of the inspection of every building in the city."

The date of the inspection was later obtained from another official of the department.

Intends to Inspect.

"It is possible that the building has not been inspected since its erection. Unless there is some reason for it, or because of fire or accident, we do not inspect buildings after their erection, except when alterations are about to be made."

"Have you inspected the building since the fire?"

"No. I intended to inspect it directly after the fire but was called before the Finance Commission. However, I shall inspect it unless something else interferes."

POTHIER LETS THREE BILLS BECOME LAWS

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 8.—Unsigned by Governor Pothier, three bills became laws today without executive approval. The measures were those ending the power of police appointment that the Mayor of Central Falls has long enjoyed, a resolution allowing the Providence Armory to be used for an automobile show, and a resolution permitting the use of the armory at Westerly for a poultry show.

NELSON RENEWS BEEF CHARGES

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 8.—Promising striking developments, Representative John M. Nelson, of Wisconsin, appeared before the House Committee on expenditures in the Agricultural Department today at a preliminary hearing on the Nelson resolution to investigate the meat inspection service. Nelson renewed his charges, the meat inspection law of 1906 is not being carried out, and that there is an alliance between packers and government officials resulting in the selling of diseased meat.

"In beginning this investigation," he said, "there are three things for the committee to examine. First, the expenditure of public money; second, the vital question of whether the public health has been protected; third, the most important of all, to discover the alliance between the meat packers and men who have been put in responsible places to administer the law."

Referring to the defence of the Department of Agriculture, the Wisconsin member said:

"They are admitting a part, denying a part and qualifying things so as to make the case over, just as was done in 1906 before the meat inspection law was necessary. I propose to show this committee that the same men who made this law necessary, and who attempted to smooth over the situation then, so independent investigation finally had to be made are still in control of the Department of Agriculture."

Nelson's statement today, he declared, was the foundation of the case he proposed to make out against officials of the Department of Agriculture. He mentioned Secretary Wilson, Solicitor McCabe and Dr. Melvin, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, as being negligent in enforcing the meat inspecting laws.

Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane, whose investigation in various packing plants are said to form the basis of many of the Nelson charges, was ready to take the witness stand.

TOOTHACHE CAUSE OF REVERE FIRE

A stubborn toothache was responsible for a fire at Revere, early today, which drove six persons into the street in their night clothing and caused a loss of $2,000.

Mrs. Zenas G. Lakeman of No. 55 Vane street, was awakened by a severe pain in one of her molars. She rose and lighted a lamp to find medicine. In walking across the room she dropped the lamp and the explosion which followed set fire to the room.

Surrounded by blazing oil, Mrs. Lakeman screamed for help and before her garments caught fire, her husband had reached her. Smoke and flame filled the room, and Lakeman gathered his wife and young daughter and fled down the stairs, crying "Fire."

DRIVER HURT IN COLLISION.

Henry Venner, a teamster living at No. 25 Faigan street, Dorchester, was badly injured today as a result of a collision between his wagon and an inward bound Mattapan car at the corner of Blue Hill avenue and Burrett avenue, Dorchester. Venner was driving across the tracks at the time.

Waiters in Belmont Leave Guests Hungry

Strike Proclaimed in Big New York Hotel at 7:15 P. M. When Dining Room Was Thronged.

NEW YORK, May 8.—After scores of persons had ordered dinner and in some cases had partaken of the early courses, the waiters in the main dining room of the Hotel Belmont quit work, having been called on strike by the walking delegate.

A whistle was blown. It was thought to be a signal for the band to quit or go ahead. Then with a readiness that struck terror to the heart of the guests Alphonse, Gaston, Louis, Henry, Jacob, Francois, Paul Jean, William and Gulseppe, to the number of seventy, hailed wild dishes in their hands and then walked back to the pantry.

None of the guests knew just what had happened. Those who were hungry and had not eaten fell upon the bread and devoured it. Persons connected with the management of the hotel passed among those who were becoming impatient and assured them that it would be all right in a minute.

After the first effects of the blow had been felt the hotel telephoned to the Waldorf-Astoria for help. When the Belmont waiters walked out they gathered on the sidewalk about the hotel, and a card was issued, reading:

"Waiters of the Hotel Belmont are on strike against unfair treatment and Pearlism. Comrades and fellow workers in the hotel industry, do your duty. Keep away from the Hotel Belmont." Pearlism it was explained referred to Victor Pearl, the headwaiter.

RIOTS FEARED IN HAVANA DOCK STRIKE

HAVANA, Cuba, May 8.—Traffic in the harbor is paralyzed by the strike of longshoremen and lighermen, whose ranks have been increased by the harbor engineers. Ferries and towboats were stopped and steamships were forced to send their passengers ashore in lifeboats. So serious was the situation that in many cases the lifeboats were sent away under armed officers.

Police launches were used in taking off passengers from other vessels. Rioting is feared.

Huge quantities of perishable foodstuffs have accumulated on the wharves.

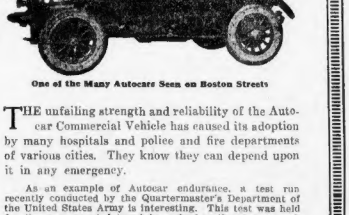
The Autocar

"Used in Every Line of Business"



One of the Many Autocars Seen on Boston Streets

THE unfailing strength and reliability of the Autocar Commercial Vehicle has caused its adoption by many hospitals and police and fire departments of various cities. They know they can depend upon it in any emergency.

As an example of Autocar endurance, a test run recently conducted by the Quartermaster's Department of the United States Army is interesting. This test was held for the purpose of determining whether the motor truck is capable of taking the place of the army mule in the severest military service.

The run covered a distance of 1509 miles from Washington, D. C., to Atlanta and thence to Indianapolis, over roads, for a great part of the distance, hub-deep with mud.

The Autocar was the only one of the motor trucks entered, to complete the test without any mechanical replacements.

Six hundred business concerns endorse the Autocar, owning from one to seventy-four each.

FOR WORLD FAIR IN BOSTON 1920

The New Hampshire Board of Trade, at its Spring meeting held at Exeter, adopted a resolution in favor of granting the right of the Grand Trunk Railroad to cross the State in its extension to Boston and passed another resolution in favor of holding an International Exposition or World's Fair in Boston in 1920 to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers.

Such a fair, it is declared, would greatly assist in the development of Boston and the whole of New England.

The resolution in connection with the Grand Trunk was as follows:

Resolved, that the New Hampshire Board of Trade is in favor of granting authority to the Southern New England Railroad Corporation to build across this State so that the transcontinental system of the Grand Trunk Railway may be completed and New Hampshire share in the benefits which shall accrue from this new force in the industrial development of New England.

In the resolutions favoring the Pilgrim Fathers international exposition it is declared that whatever leads to promote the growth and prosperity of Boston contributes directly to the development and progress of New Hampshire and all other states. The resolution follows:

Resolved, by the New Hampshire Board of Trade, that we earnestly recommend to the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the municipal government of the city, the Massachusetts Legislature, the Legislatures of our own and other New England States, and the Congress of the United States, such prompt initiation of measures providing for a great International Exposition or World's Fair in that city during the year 1920, commemorative of the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth —an event without parallel in importance in the history of our American development and the progress of civilization and freedom throughout the world.

We believe that no project can be conceived whose execution would contribute more to the material progress, substantial growth and permanent prosperity of the New England metropolis than this, or whose influence, immediate and continued, would conduce more powerfully to the advantage of all the New England States, and especially our own, whose wonderful natural attractions and scenic beauties would command the attention and the lasting admiration of thousands of visitors from all parts of the country and the world, heretofore unacquainted therewith; and we pledge our earnest efforts, as a business organization, to the furtherance of this project, so far as the interest and cooperation of the people of New Hampshire are concerned.

Cy Warman, of the Grand Trunk, speaking before the Haverhill Board of Trade, said:

"We have been asked to come to Boston and there are those who would slam the door in our face. If you want the Grand Trunk, the only free, unfettered railway on the continent, give us the 'nigh ball and we'll come ahead."

POLICE SEEK TRAIL OF BURGLAR GANG

The Boston police, Pinkertons and government inspectors united their efforts today in a hunt for a gang accused of burglaries in New England, Canada and New York. The police say the men are known as Thomas Monahan, alias "Uncle Tom," alias Thomas Wright; Harry Wilson, alias "Sheeney Harry," alias Harry Borger; Harry Diehn, alias A. Clark, alias John Edwards; William Driscoll, alias "Ottawa Irish," alias Thomas Morris, alias Tom Darrell; Charles Cameron, alias Charles J. CAPEN DELEGATE TO PEACE CONVENTION

The annual meeting of the American Peace Society, which will be held at Hotel Raleigh, Washington, D. C., at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, will be one of the most important in the history of the society. Action will be taken to centralize in the society all the peace associations of the country as its constituent bodies. Samuel B. Capen, president, and James L. Tryon, secretary of the Massachusetts Peace Society, have been elected members of the national board of directors from Massachusetts, in addition to Judge Robert F. Raymond and Samuel C. Bushnell, who are delegates at large.

SOMERVILLE MEN SUED FOR ALIENATION

Charles Wood of Somerville was named in a $20,000 alienation suit filed today at the East Cambridge Courthouse by Charles Ross of Somerville. Ross alleges that Wood alienated the affections of his wife, Mabel Ross. Charging that Arthur Bowler of Somerville alienated the affections of his wife, Mary Elizabeth Kegler, Albert G. Kegler, Jr., filed suit for $20,000 against Bowler in the East Cambridge Court.

INCENDIARY SUSPECT CAUGHT AND ESCAPES

Fire thought to have been of incendiary origin caused damage of $250 to the apartment of Mrs. Nathan Plattin at No. 137 Leverett street, West End. When the fire was discovered a man was seen running from the building. He was captured after a short chase, but escaped during the excitement. Mrs. Plattin reported to the police after the fire that her pocketbook was missing.

"MANCHESTER" MARK ON DEAD MAN'S SUIT

NEW HAVEN, Ct., May 8.—The authorities began an investigation today to determine the identity of a well dressed man who was found dead in the woods on the Woodford estate with a bullet wound in his temple and a revolver at his side. His underwear bore the laundry mark "J. C. P.," and he wore a dark check suit with a tailor's mark, "J. Pheriles, Manchester, N. H." There was $400 in his pockets.

Woman Champions 'Old-Maidish' Men

'Boston Sees Through Western Bluff'

HARTE'S DAUGHTER GOT INFORMATION IN "ROARING CAMP."

DR. DAVIS-PARKER DEFENDS BOSTON.

By SYBIL WARNE.

Oh, you don't understand Boston, Mrs. Jessamy Evet Harte Steele, when you say it is full of women, dogs and old-maidish men.

Boston needs to be in the minds of Western people a year before they can understand it.

Boston is truly a state of mind.

Women in this city do not want the men to be too chivalrous.

Most of the ambition of this country comes from Boston.

Boston sees through Western bluff quicker than any other city.

These are some of the replies made by Dr. Anna B. Davis-Parker of the Metaphysical Club in this city, to Mrs. Jessamy Harte Steele, daughter of the author, who thinks men are not chivalrous in Boston and that they are lacking in ambition. Dr. Parker sees only one particular in which the criticism may be just, and that is the assertion that the men here lack venturesomeness.

"Oh, well, it is easy to criticise Boston and Mrs. Steele has attempted it," Dr. Parker says. "You must first understand Boston before you can justly criticise it," said Dr. Anna Parker.

"It takes a person from the West as much as a year or more to understand Boston. They are used to loose collars and neckties out there, while here in Boston are more accustomed to starched collars and shirts.

MAKES WESTERNERS FALL FLAT.

"Boston has been called a state of mind. A good many Westerners fall flat when they hear this, because they do not comprehend its meaning.

"They remain flat, until some light arouses them, and then they awaken to the full meaning of this phrase and understand it.

"Mrs. Steele is rather hasty in characterizing our men as lacking chivalry or ambition.

"Women in Boston do not want the men to be too chivalrous. If I drop my handkerchief on the ground, I do not expect a man to run and pick it up. We women are helping ourselves. We want the men to be chivalrous in other ways than running to pick up handkerchiefs or to be like Sir Walter Raleigh throwing his cloak over a pool to let a queen pass over it.

"If Mrs. Steele is looking around for such acts of chivalry in Boston, she must be disappointed. We women are teaching the men to be chivalrous in other ways.

"They are not lacking in ambition. Most of the ambition in this country is in Boston. We start a good many reforms here. We think them over carefully and then we start them and the West takes hold of them. We do not object to this, because the United States still has its ear to the ground to find out what Boston thinks about any question.

"Lacking ambition! Why we are full of ambition. We overflow with it.

"I do not see where Mrs. Steele has received her impressions, if not from the roaring camps of the far West.

"Then we are alive to the Western bluff that comes here. It comes in all shapes. We see through it.

"Why, we had a man come here from the West, who attempted to tell the true secret life. When he appeared in one of the cultured circles for which this city is now famous, two ladies put a few questions to him and the wisecare from the West beat a hasty retreat back to the West.

"He was answered. He could not fool Boston people, because there is one thing that we do in Boston, we use our minds. We turn many a subject over before we will let it settle down into any sort of certainty.

"We have many more women here than men. But we women are able to take care of ourselves. In no city of the United States are women doing better and more progressive work than right here in Massachusetts. We outnumber the men, but it is not the fault of women that this happens, and women are not regretting that they outnumber the men.

"But the men are not so freaky or bunches of conceit, neither are they spoiled as this lady seems to think. Trust the women to see to this.

"There is one thing to be said, that when you do understand Boston, when you do understand what we mean by culture and intelligence, you will always go away with a most delightful view of their meaning in this city.

"I do, however feel that Mrs. Steele may be right when she asserts that the men are not venturesome. There may be something in that, but it is hard to leave Boston for any other place after you have digested its intellectual freedom."

THOUSANDS IN PERIL BY FLOOD

NEW ORLEANS, May 8.—The Mississippi flood peril is growing more acute hourly. Thousands of lives are endangered by the raging waters.

Entirely surrounded by water, despite that threatened the village of Lettsworth, fifty-five miles north of Baton Rouge today. Boats manned by national guards men were sent in an attempt to rescue the 500 residents of the village.

A crevasse in the levee just north of the village caused it to be surrounded by water and the torrent was still rising rapidly at latest accounts.

Twenty thousand persons have been rescued up to date and are in need of succor. All are suffering privations as a result of lack of food and clothing. In many instances the homes of refugees were washed away by the torrent.

In addition to the flood sufferers in the Mississippi Valley 12,000 persons are homeless in the valley of the Red River.

The State has been asked to give them assistance. Boat troops are rounding up all the idle negroes in this and other cities up the lower Mississippi Valley, putting them to work strengthening the levees at points where they are threatened.

UNABLE TO FULFIL BUTT'S LAST WISH

WASHINGTON, May 8.—In the will of Major Archibald W. Butt, victim of the Titanic, he requested that he should be buried in Arlington National Cemetery, which is impossible, as fate destined the sea to be his final resting place. Major Butt left his personal effects to his two brothers, and provided that the residue of his estate be converted into cash, and divided between the eldest children of the two brothers. A movement will likely be started to erect a suitable memorial to Major Butt at Arlington.

BOSTON GUESTS THERE.

TOLAND, Ct., May 8. The wedding of Miss Lilla Stanley Agard, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Edwin S. Agard of this place, and Dr. Henry Bernard Safford of New York city, at the home of the bride this afternoon was attended by a large number of guests from New York, Boston, Springfield, Hartford and Holyoke. The bride is a graduate of Smith College.

POLICE GET AFTER PICKPOCKET GANG

The Boston police today began an active campaign for suppression of pickpockets that has been operating in the city for the past six months. Beginning today, eleven inspectors from police headquarters are detailed to the public parks and shopping districts for the express purpose of watching for pickpockets. At the same time the bail commissioner has been asked to refuse to accept any form of bail for any person arrested on the charge of picking pockets.

GOMEZ GOVERNMENT HANGS IN BALANCE

JUAREZ, Mex., May 8.—The provisional government established here last Saturday by Emilio Vasquez Gomez hangs in the balance. The repudiation of the civil authority, which Gomez as provisional president, claims to control the destinies of the revolution is today worrying him greatly. Gomez and his cabinet are debating a counterstanding ban against the Madero supporters, still armed, unless a charge of treason should be written into Federal territory.

BEATEN FROM TITANIC BOAT

LONDON, May 8.—Testimony to be taken in the United States will play an important part in the British inquiry into the Titanic disaster, according to an announcement made when the sitting was resumed in the London Scottish drill hall. Robert Horrison, representing the survivors, applied for Lord Mersey's permission to represent the families of dead steerage passengers. He also was instructed to appear for two survivors now in America, whose testimony is wanted. Lord Mersey asked the nature of the testimony. J. P. Farrell, M. P., replied: "A survivor named Thomas McCormick stated in an interview in New York that he jumped from the liner and, after floating about in the water for some time, found himself near a lifeboat. He swam to the boat and caught hold of the gunwale, begging to be taken aboard. The officer in charge was alleged to have struck Farrell over the head, then to have beaten his hands with an oar in an attempt to make him let go. We would like to have that investigated."

SICK STOMACH, DIGESTION OR CONSTIPATED BOWELS—CASCARETS

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning.

Don't Drink Common Beer in Light Bottles
Drink Schlitz in BROWN BOTTLES

You wouldn't think of drinking impure water.

Why not be sure you get pure beer? If you drink beer from a light bottle that has been exposed to light, you are not sure.

Light starts decay, even in pure beer.

Schlitz is brewed in the dark, aged in glass-lined steel-enameled tanks. Every tub, vat and tank is scalded every time used. Every bottle is sterilized after it is sealed. Even the windows in our bottling plant are of brown glass.

The Brown Bottle protects Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

TEXT OF JOHN JACOB ASTOR'S WILL, FILED YESTERDAY

$70,000,000 in New York City Real Estate Confided to Four Trustees with "Uncontrolled Discretion" to Manage, Lease or Sell It for the Sole Benefit of the Son Vincent; Separate Trust Funds for Miss Muriel, and $3,000,000 for Any Posthumous Child.

I, John Jacob Astor, of the city of New York, being of sound mind, memory and understanding, do hereby make public and declare this to be my last will and testament, and I hereby declare that it is my intention by this, my last will and testament, to dispose of all the property of every kind and description, and wheresoever situated, which at the time of my death, shall belong to me absolutely as my own property, as well as all property of every kind and description and wheresoever situated, over, or in respect to which I shall, at the time of my death, possess any power of appointment or disposition.

FIRST—All of the estate and property, both real and personal, which, by that certain ante-nuptial settlement or deed of trust, bearing the date of the eleventh day of February, in the year 1891, made by and between me, as the party of the first part, Ava Lowle Willing, as party of the second part, William Astor and Caroline W., his wife, as parties of the third part, and the United States Trust Company of New York, as party of the fourth part, all authorized and empowered to appoint and dispose of by last will, give, devise and bequeath in fee simple and absolutely unto my son William Vincent Astor, if he shall survive me, or, if he shall die before me, to his issue who shall survive me, or, if he shall die before me, or if I shall leave no issue who shall survive me, then to my daughter, Ava Alice Muriel Astor, or if she shall not survive me, then to her issue who shall survive me, or if I shall leave no issue who shall survive me or if I shall leave no son or grandson who shall survive me, to my issue who shall survive me in equal shares per stirpes and not per capita.

Fifth Avenue Home to His Widow

THIRD—I give and devise the plot of land situated at the northeasterly corner of Fifth avenue and Sixty-fifth street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, being 125 feet and 9 inches in width on Fifth avenue and 150 feet in length on Sixty-fifth street, with dwelling and stable thereon, together with the printed books, paintings, pictures, engravings, photogravures, statuary and objects of art, plate and silver plated ware, linen, china, glass, household effects, useful and ornamental, contained therein, at the time of my death, and not otherwise disposed of, unto my wife, Madeleine Talmadge Force Astor, to have and to hold the same unto her for and during her natural life as she shall remain my widow, and upon her death or remarriage, whichever shall first happen, I give, devise and bequeath all the property in this article mentioned unto my son, William Vincent Astor, if he shall survive me, or if he shall die before me, to his issue who shall survive me, or if he shall die before me, or if I shall leave no issue who shall survive me, then unto my daughter, Ava Alice Muriel Astor, or if she shall not survive me, then to her issue who shall survive me, or if I shall leave no issue who shall survive me, or if I shall leave no son or grandson who shall survive me, to my issue who shall survive me in equal shares per stirpes and not per capita.

Rhinebeck and Newport Estates.

SECOND—All of the lands and personal property at Rhinebeck, in the State of New York, in the first codicil to the will of my late father, William Astor, given to me for my life, with power of appointment by my will as the lands and personal property situated at Rhinebeck, in the State of New York, which, at the time of my death, shall belong to me absolutely, and also the house and grounds at Newport, R. I., which were purchased by my father from the estate of Thomas Parish, together with all ties personal property therein, in connection with the house and grounds, and if, at the time of my death, said house and grounds shall belong to me absolutely or shall be part of the residuary estate disposed of by the will of my said father, William Astor, and also all the pictures and furniture that is to be in the third article of my father's will for me to dispose of in some by law among my lawful issue, all of my jewelry, wearing apparel, personal effects, all my yachts and boats, I give, devise and bequeath absolutely and in fee simple unto my son, William Vincent Astor, if he shall survive me, or if he shall die before me, to his issue who shall survive me, or if I shall leave none, to my eldest grandson who shall survive me, or if I shall leave no issue who shall survive me, but if any issue of his surviving me, then to my daughter, Ava Alice Muriel Astor, or if she shall not survive me, then to her issue who shall survive me, or if I shall leave no issue who shall survive me, but if any issue of her

HOOT LOWELL POLICE FOR STRIKE ARREST

LOWELL, May 8.—Surrounded by hundreds of shouting strikers, Inspector Walsh of the city police arrested Charleon Pranar, a weaver at the Merrimac Manufacturing Company's mill, charged with intimidating the loyal operatives and knocking several from the sidewalk near the mill gate. Six hundred operatives today joined the handful of men who walked out yesterday.

URGE SOUTHERN PACIFIC PLAN

Resolutions will be introduced in the two branches of the Massachusetts Legislature today endorsing the movement on foot to have the Southern Pacific Railroad extend its Atlantic steamship lines to Boston, which would make Boston the northern terminus for the Southern Pacific's steamship lines now plying between New York, New Orleans and Galveston.

Senator Charles H. Brown of Medford, who sponsored the $9,000,000 act for the development of Boston Harbor and the Board of Directors of the Port of Boston, will introduce the resolution in the Senate, in the House a resolution will be presented by Representative John F. Meaney of Blackstone, who led the fight for the order adopted by last year's House inviting the Grand Trunk Railway system to extend its lines into Boston and Worcester.

The resolutions stand an excellent chance of passing both houses.

The resolutions presented in the legislature are similar to those adopted Monday by the Boston City Council, indorsing the invitation of Major Fitzgerald of the Southern Pacific Company to bring the Galveston line of steamers to Boston. The action of the City Council was the first official recognition of the movement.

Realize Possibilities.

President John J. Martin of the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange and David O. Ives, transportation manager of the Boston Chamber of Commerce were quick to grasp the great possibilities offered to Boston in the new project. The former got into communication with his Board of Directors immediately upon reading of the Sunday AMERICAN announcement and a set of resolutions inviting the Southern Pacific and urging the port director to offer all possible inducements were passed by the directors of the exchange.

Much interest was expressed throughout the Chamber of Commerce building when an inquiry was made as to opinions of business men on the advantages of the liners of the Southern Pacific running from the Gulf ports to Boston.

President Russell of the Chamber declared that it was just the thing Boston had been striving for for several years and he hoped the line would soon be transferred here. He said:

Every new steamship line that comes to Boston is a decided advantage. It is just what we have been striving after for years. We want them especially in the coastwise trade, because it will open up that southwestern country for our New England manufacturers and general traders.

Will Increase Trade.

We have been disappointed because Boston capital would not interest itself in lines to Texas and anything we here leading towards such an end we will appreciate. I hope this southern Pacific proposition materialises.

Thomas Ronalds, jay, grain and general freight exporter, said:

Such a line would be of advantage to our trade during a particularly dry season down there, but not of the greatest use during the normal season. It was dry down there for the past season and I shipped great quantities of Canadian hay to Southern ports. It would have been a decided advantage if there was a line to the Southern Pacific ships to give us the advantage of better rates.

It will increase trade here anyway. I was ever at a line's docks the other day and was impressed with the fact that a recent incoming cargo was so much greater than outgoing. Another line to liven up things would increase cargoes both ways. I hope the Southern Pacific gets in here soon.

Herbert L. Hammond, secretary of the C. M. Cox Company, grain dealers, said:

Such a line as the Southern Pacific would be advantageous to our trade only insofar as it might increase the trade from that country in cotton-seed meal. Otherwise it would be of more advantage to the cotton and woolen men. Of course it would be a good thing for Boston.

Andrew O'Toole, of the firm of P. J. O'Toole, said:

It certainly would be a good thing for Boston. It would interest the grain and hay men mostly as an added trade source for New England, not because of direct advantage to our trade.

J. E. Southworth of the firm of George F. Reed, and one of the best informed grain dealers in New England, said:

As a general proposition it would be an advantage to New England. Under normal conditions, however, Galveston has the advantage in our line of trade. It is only when there is an unusual condition that we have any great trade with that country.

ELDERLY FOLKS! CALOMEL, SALTS AND CATHARTICS AREN'T FOR YOU

Harmless, gentle "Syrup of Figs" is best to cleanse your stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels of sour bile, decaying food, gases and clogged-up waste.

You old people, Syrup of Figs is particularly for you. You who don't like the easy chair. You, whose steps are slow and whose muscles are less elastic. You must realize that your liver and ten yards of bowels have also become less active.

Don't regard Syrup of Figs as physic. It stimulates the liver and bowels just as exercise would do if you took enough of it. It is not harsh like salts or cathartics. The help which Syrup of Figs gives to a torpid liver and weak, sluggish bowels is harmless, natural and gentle.

When eyes grow dim, you help them. Do the same with your liver and bowels when age makes them less active. There is nothing more important. Costive, clogged-up bowels mean that decaying, fermenting food is clogged there and the pores or ducts in these thirty feet of bowels suck this decaying waste and poisons into the blood. You will never get feeling right until this is corrected—but do it gently. Don't have a bowel washday; don't use a bowel irritant. For your sake, please use only gentle, effective Syrup of Figs. Then you are not drugging yourself, for Syrup of Figs is composed of only luscious figs, senna and aromatics which can not injure.

A teaspoonful tonight will gently but thoroughly move on and out of your system by morning all the sour bile, poisonous fermenting food and clogged-up waste matter without gripe, nausea or weakness.

But get the genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." Refuse, with contempt, any other Fig Syrup unless it bears the name—prepared by the California Fig Syrup Company. Read the label.

Edsall Will Succeed Shattuck at Harvard

Noted Teacher Made Jackson Professor at the Medical School.

One of the most important additions to the teaching force of Harvard in years was made today when Dr. David Linn Edsall, of the Medical School of Washington University, St. Louis, was appointed Jackson professor of medicine of the Harvard Medical School to succeed Dr. F. C. Shattuck. The new professor is one of the best known medical teachers in the country.

Dr. Edsall graduated from Princeton in 1890, and from the Medical School of the University of Pennsylvania in 1893. From 1907 to 1910 he was the dean of the faculty of medicine at Pennsylvania.

He is a member of the Association of American Physicians, has been president of the Association for the Advancement of Clinical Research and, is now president of the American School Hygiene Association. In the American Medical Association he has been a leading member of the Council of Pharmacology and Chemistry which has exposed many patent medicine frauds, and of the Council for the Protection of Medical Research.

Dr. Edsall has made a special study of the diseases peculiar to certain occupations including studies of the effects of great heat in steel and iron works.

Auto News

By J. C. KERRIGON.

Harry Grant, one of the most noted speed kings in America, twice winner of the Vanderbilt Cup and a number of big speed events, has signed a contract to take over the management of the automobile races to be held at Rockingham Park Memorial Day. Grant promised the management he would secure the entries of the best amateur and professional drivers in New England and there will be a great day of racing.

If the racing on Memorial Day comes up to expectations the management proposes to put on a big sweepstake race for October 12th, when the majority of the pilots that will race at Indianapolis will take part.

Grant visited the track at Rockingham and whirled around it a few times in his Alco racing car, and afterwards declared that it was the best mile dirt track in the country for automobile racing.

The success of the meeting seems assured now that the New England Atlantic Company has secured Grant to direct the automobile races on Memorial Day.

The Vanderbilt and Grand Prize races, which are supposed to go to Milwaukee, have not as yet received official sanction from the bodies having jurisdiction. The governing bodies are, it is understood, awaiting the acceptance by the Milwaukee authorities of the provision that three days shall intervene between the big races and the suggestion that the races should not be held between September 2nd and October 5th.

As yet no entry blanks have been issued, but just as soon as a few mooted questions have been thoroughly threshed out the Milwaukee officials will act on the entry question.

GREATER BOSTON SCHOOLBOY STARS WHO ARE MAKING GOOD ON THE DIAMOND IN GAMES THIS SEASON

PILGRIMS ARE FULL OF HOPE

CHICAGO, May 8.—Disappointed, but not in the least discouraged, by their second defeat at the hands of the Cubs yesterday, Johnny Kling and his band of Pilgrims will tackle their opponents again this afternoon with the fixed purpose of taking the third game of the series.

The pepper which was noticeable in the Pilgrim's playing on the first day was entirely absent yesterday. But of course there might be some excuse for that. It is hard for a team to show much "pepper" when their dingers are not doing their part. Therefore, yesterday's encounter was in the nature of a walkover for the locals.

In the first round the Cubs whaled some three runs, and then galloped the rest of the route, adding six more to the total before the eighth inning. It was the eighth inning before the Braves got a man home. Four pushed over in that inning and wound up with just them close enough to make it look like a battle.

Lavender worked the entire game for Chicago, and though his twirling wasn't what one could call brilliant, it was so steady and precise that he won the admiration of the onlookers. He gave nine base hits all told, but none scored until the last end of the contest, when the Cubs were so far ahead that it was not necessary to use all of one's strength in pitching to the enemy.

Johnny Kling picked Hub Perdue to pitch. Hub has been something of a hero because of his pitching prowess down East so far this spring, but he couldn't get by Chicago fellows at all, and after laboring in vain desperation for five rounds he was allowed to go to his shower bath and another pitcher was sent to the mound.

The Cubs had pounded Hub for ten base hits and scored seven runs while his mates hadn't been able to get a man as far as third base. Hub's afternoon was by no means his best day in the box, for him. But what he had to feed the Cubs proved to be the early games to be hard to imagine, but he certainly must have had more than he had to-day.

When he retired, the ball and bat artists of the Windy City had the task of hurling and the Cubs batted in two more runs and turned in some championship form rounding during his session. Johnny Kling retired from the battle as if he disgusted when Hub Perdie failed to accomplish anything, and his young understudy, Cady, wound up the contest behind the bat.

Medford High will continue its fight for a high place in the Suburban League today by trying to take a fall out of Melrose High when they clash at Melrose. Medford made a poor start in the league race this season, but after a week of hard luck, mixed with only fair playing, which resulted in three straight defeats, the team has struck its stride, and many believe it will go ahead and win the fourth straight league pennant.

Medford is the favorite, and should win over Melrose. Melrose started off like champions but Ross "blew up" after the first two league games.

The work today may be divided between Davidson and Fahey for Medford. Both are good twirlers and either can hold Melrose. Medford is also batting the ball harder than two weeks ago, and this is a big asset. In the game against Malden the boys made ten clean hits, four of them being for two bases.

A win for Medford today will give the team a percentage of .500, tied for third place with Melrose. Everett will be on top with a chance of three wins, so after today's game the winner will have a good fight to overtake that team.

* * *

Lack of batting is the weakness of the majority of the schoolboy teams this season. Some clever lads are pitching in the school ranks this season but many believe that several twirlers get away with games of comparatively few hits merely because the boys are weak at the bat.

It is said in the big leagues that good hitters are born—not developed—and some of the schoolboys are beginning to believe this.

The coaches have worked hard enough to develop batting and never give up hope. They have given their men a lot of work at the bat but only a few are showing improvement.

Batting is the big weakness of the Somerville team and that is all that has kept them out of the race for first place in the Suburban League. Somerville has a pitcher in Walter Whittaker who can hold his opponents to a few hits but without batting he cannot win. The Somerville batters could not touch Ross of Melrose in the opening game for Somerville at Everett and, although they defeated Medford, it was only by a close margin.

The Malden High team is not a hard hitting combination, and the same can be said of Rindge, Melrose, Cambridge Latin and several others.

The Everett High team has been doing the best batting and batting this season and appears to be the best hitting team in the league. Coach Cleo O'Donnell has developed his men hard but the team has done more to hit all of the pitchers in the Suburban League, among them the two star twirlers, Fahey and Whittaker.

Rindge Technical will clash with the Boston College High team at Cambridge and this should be a good game, although the Boston team is considered the probable winner. The Cambridge boys will have to hit the ball harder than they did against St. Mark's. Rindge is quite weak on the diamond this season, but their pitching will but the inability to hit costs. Arthur Reid Rindge down to a stage but Saturday. Smith will probably do the pitching and it is expected that he will oppose Gill, the Boston College High twirler. Gill has been pitching good ball this season and is expected to hold the Cambridge team down to a few hits.

* * *

English High will take a trip to Danvers this afternoon to battle the St. John's "Prep" team. With good battery work by Brenna and Fogle, English has been playing a fairly good game of ball for the past couple of weeks and is bound to give the Danvers nine a lot of trouble. Brenna has is being looked up to good shape by his teammates on the field and the batting has been fair. St. John's has been trimming a lot of good teams this season and loses to old the Boston boys to the tune of 10 to 0. "Red-dy" Fahe will probably do the pitching.

* * *

Waltham and Somerville, the old rivals in the diamond and gridiron, clash this afternoon at Recreation Park, Somerville, and a hard game is anticipated. The teams appear to be about evenly matched. Somerville will have a strong pitcher in several fine batters, and Waltham will stack a mediocre pitcher against a team of weak hitters. Walter Whittaker will take the mound for Somerville, and he expects to win his team by a victory. Fagon will do the pitching for Waltham.

* * *

Coach Dame has worked hard with his Waltham team this season, and results are beginning to show. The team has been playing fast ball now, and Dame hopes to the strong Allen School team. Dame has several fine batters and players, and also his team work is good. "Ty" Cobb is playing a great game in the outfield and taking a turn at pitching.

* * *

Woburn and Winchester play a Mystic Valley League game this afternoon at Woburn and this should be a pretty fight. Both teams want an early lead in the league race, and the best teams will be put on the diamond. Both schools are represented by fair teams, and the game is bound to be close.

* * *

Arlington High plays Reading High in Mystic Valley League game today and the boys expect an easy victory. Arlington is playing a classy game this season and appears to have a stronger combination than Reading. The boys are out to win and Coach Chayer is pitching good ball.

* * *

Coach Cleo O'Donnell of Everett High will send his charges against the Harvard freshmen this today and he will give his boys particular instructions to cop the game. Everett has a fair chance to win for the team is batting hard, while the freshmen have shown nothing to date.

* * *

Exeter will have its first hard opponents to date when it stacks up against the Dean Academy nine at Exeter. Dean has a good team this year and after that defeat they were hauled by the Dartmouth freshmen the boys got down to a lot of practice and it is expected they will play better ball this time. Briggs will probably pitch for the New Hampshire team and if he does, the game is sure to be close.

Harvard Wins Out by Batting Rally

Harvard defeated Lafayette 6 to 1 in a loosely played seven-inning game yesterday at Soldiers' Field. The game was called in the first half of the eighth, with a man on first and one down, to allow the visitors to catch a train.

Harvard did all their scoring in one inning, the fourth. An accession by Fager, during which he was ably assisted by the umpire, hits by Babson, Clark, who contributed a two-bagger, and Potter netted Harvard six runs. Fager pitched the ball during all the other innings, tightening up when hits would have meant runs.

Hartford started off in the eighth and five hits were made off his delivery in four innings. It was only the fast fielding of the Harvard team that held the visitors to one run.

In the second inning a fine catch by Babson of Keeler's fliner, with only one man out and a man on first, saved Harvard a whole lot of trouble. Wingate robbed Fillmore of a hit when he stabbed his fast grounder and threw to second, getting Halfrich on a force out.

Hardy was sent to the mound by Coach Sexton in the fifth and shut out Lafayette without a hit or run. Clark, who was the hitting star, made a double and a triple.

BROWN LOSES CLOSE GAME TO CORNELL

ITHACA, N. Y., May 8.—Cornell won a well-earned victory over Brown University baseball team, 2 to 1 yesterday. Excellent pitching by Nisbet and fast and snappy fielding by the Ithacans brought about the victory, which was not exactly expected. The Cornell twirler used good judgment and pitched a heady game. Warner, too, was effective.

Swimming Meet Won by Winthrop High

Winthrop High defeated Boston English High in the swimming meet, 44 to 24, at the Cabot street baths yesterday afternoon.

Both teams were handicapped by the absence of good swimmers, who are members of the baseball teams.

Captain Roy Talcott of Winthrop was individual star of the meet, scoring 10 of the 44 points for his team. He won the 50 yards and the 100 yards.

Stout, Nichols and Fahyan were the other stars for Winthrop, while Farley, O'Neil, Captain Flynn and McDonald were the leading point-scorers for English High.

CHICAGO WINS TITLE IN BILLIARD LEAGUE

CHICAGO, May 8. — Chicago won the three-cushion championship of the National Billiard League last night, when Stanley Kandul, in the deciding game, defeated J. T. Backus of Kansas City, 50 to 41, in 72 innings. Kandul had a high run of 5 and Backus one of 4.

GOODMAN BEATS AHEARN

NEW YORK, May 8. — Jack Goodman, the West Side welterweight, earned the honors in his ten-round bout last night with Young Ahearn of Brooklyn at the St. Nicholas A. C. A whirlwind finish in the final round gave the victory to Goodman, when in that session a left hook to the jaw sent Ahearn to the mat. Up to the final round Ahearn had the better of the milling. Goodman scored two knockdowns in the fourth and last rounds.

M'GOORTY WINS BY K. O.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 8. — Eddie McGoorty, claimant of the middleweight title, knocked out Hugo Keller's protege, Jimmy Howard of Chicago, in the seventh round of the Empire last night. McGoorty dismissed the Chicago man and it was apparent after the opening round that it was only a question of how long Howard could stay.

WOLGAST FEARS RESULT OF BOUT

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—Ad Wolgast is here to prepare for his first fight since he was operated on last Fall for appendicitis. He is checked to box Willie Ritchie four rounds next Saturday night.

Perhaps more importance attaches to this short go, so far as the champion himself is concerned, than to any of his previous ring battles. Ad himself seems to have his old-time confidence. He stepped all demands for a fight, and it was only through the force of public pressure that he was induced to sign articles for a match with Joe Rivers in Los Angeles July 4.

His fight Saturday is regarded by fans as the first real test Wolgast has had. For several weeks he has been roughing it in the mountains.

HAL CHASE IS NOW IN A SANATORIUM

NEW YORK, May 8.—A statement made public here regarding the condition of Hal Chase, the star first baseman of the New York Americans, shows that he is in a sanatorium in this city, being treated for a serious form of stomach trouble. Hopes are still expressed, however, that he will recover in a short time and rejoin the team.

Chase was taken ill in Washington last week and returned to his home in this city.

Do You Want Your Money's Worth?

Flanders "20" Touring Car, $800

The next time an automobile salesman tries to sell you a car at a discount, tell him that the old "something for nothing" story can't fool you.

The best automobiles in the world are sold for their list price, not a penny less. They are worth it. But the lame ducks, the second rates, the nondescript and assembled automobiles are in the public market looking for the highest bidder. Look out they don't get you. If good, price cars are not worth their list price, how much are they worth? Nobody knows. Cut price deals are frauds.

But if you want a car of one price to all and worth every cent of it, get either a Studebaker E-M-F "30," $1150, or Flanders "20," $800. You can trust them. You get all that you pay for and that is more than you get with any other car at near their price. Studebaker guarantees them. That's the big reason. No matter what price temptation falls in your way, Studebaker E-M-F "30" and Flanders "20" cars are far bigger bargains, because in years of good service and satisfaction, they pay big returns.

COUNTRY CLUB RACING DATES

The final closing of entries for all the races in the three days' meeting to be held at the Country Club on June 15, 17 and 22, comes May 20, and everything points to as notable a field of horses as that coming to the post last year. Most of the crack stables racing on Southern courses will be at Clyde Park, and it is expected that there will be more Canadian entries than were seen here a year ago.

Harry K. Vingut of Philadelphia, whose crack chaser Waterspeed won the first leg in the great trophy, the Chamblet cup presented by Mrs. Lathrop Brown, as a memorial for her father Robert C. Hooper of Boston, is pointing more than one of his horses this year for this event.

Members of the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association would rather capture this cup than any offered in America, because for years Mr. Hooper was the most conspicuous figure in steeplechasing in this country, and held it to the highest ideals.

The guaranteed cash value of the Chamblet Memorial race—Chamblet was Mr. Hooper's racing name—is $2,000, and the starters in this race must be the unconditional property of the owners, or owner by whom entries are made and in whose colors and interest they run.

The Chamblet will be run off the first day of the meeting. There will be six races each day, three flat and three steeplechases, the last named over one of the hardest two and a half miles of country in the world, for such events.

Earl Moore May Be Traded to the Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 8.—Rumors of a deal involving Earl Moore on one side and the Cubs, Rafael Almeida with a Red pitcher on the other floated around here today and was the most startling news of the day, but everybody interested denied the allegations.

Charlie Doak told his many admirers in his home town all the regulars with the exception of Hans Lobert would soon be back in harness within a week. The news from Philadelphia that Hans would be out of the game for some weeks caused deep regret, not only in his own camp, but also locally, where the Buckeye Rooter Regan still commands the friendship of host of fans.

Tom Downey was taken in tow today by the Reds, his former team mates, and found a most warm welcome. According to Manager Doolin, Sherwood Magee will get into the game here tomorrow, while Chalmers will report for duty either here or in Pittsburg.

Gamblers Make Cleanup on Crouse Houck Bout Award Arouses Fans

A rousing protest was made today by pugilistic followers against the decision by which "Buck" Crouse was declared winner over Leo Houck in a twelve-round contest at the Pilgrim A. A. last night.

A large sum is reported to have been bet on the fight. About 2,500 were present at the Boston Arena, many of whom laid good sized wagers.

Three men from Providence, for instance, are said to have bet $7,000 against $14,000 that Houck would win. Crouse, the favorite, was clearly in no condition and Houck beat him all over the ring.

There was a suspicious shift of referees just before the fight began. Hector McInness of South Boston was originally carded as the third man in the ring. Just before the gong John Mooney, matchmaker of the club, took McInness aside and told him that Manager Mason, in Crouse's corner, would not stand for him.

McInness refused to leave the building until permitted to make a speech. In this address, he said that in the afternoon Mason had told him he was entirely satisfactory.

Crowd Jeered Clougherty.

After the fight, Clougherty waved to Crouse as the winner, while the big crowd jeered at him. Later the "directors" of the Pilgrims A. A. announced that Clougherty had admitted to them that he made a mistake, and that he had meant to award the decision to Houck. Clougherty could not be found today.

Before this announcement was made, however, most of the wagers had been turned over by the stakeholders.

Boston people who like to see boxing matches were astonished and distressed today at the result of a twelve-round bout last night.

In this contest Leo Houck knocked "Buck" Crouse all around the ring. It was clearly and honestly a one-sided fight. When it was over Houck was robbed of the decision.

Not one person who saw the fight doubted the result. Even Crouse himself, plainly surprised at the announcement of the referee, threw his hands in the air in astonishment, leaped over the ropes and disappeared before anyone could get a chance to talk to him.

About Pilgrim A. A.

The Pilgrim Athletic Association was formed following the decease of the Armory A. A. to revive boxing in Boston. The Arena was leased for a headquarters and for the nights on which boxing bouts were to be given.

The officers of the association are given as follows:

President—Dr. Hebber W. Bishop.
Vice-President—Alfred W. Robinson.
Secretary—William Filan.
Directors—J. McCormick, Henry W. Forbes, A. R. Kelley and James Wilfe.

The association was organized two months ago and incorporated.

The first professional bouts were given on April 19, and last night's meeting was the second. An amateur boxing tournament was given as a start off for the association, and there was a cross-country run also held.

There was an attendance of 2,500 last night. The tickets cost $1, $2 and $3.

Johnny Mooney was recently appointed matchmaker of the club, Crouse and Houck drawn on a percentage basis.

"Punched Holes in Crouse."

HOUCK punched holes in "Buck" Crouse last night. The verdict was one of the poorest ever given at a New England club. In fact, I don't believe a poorer decision was ever given in the East. It would have been robbery to have given "Red Mason's protege even a draw, while it was almost as bad as grace to award him the decision.

When Clougherty pointed to Crouse's corner at the end of the final round, the crowd was dumbfounded. The "fans" at first thought that Clougherty was bewildered and pointed to the wrong corner, but when he started to get out of the ring, the spectators jumped to their feet and jelled their disapproval.

The uproar continued for almost five minutes. Crouse was the most surprised person in the Arena and clearly showed his astonishment at being declared the victor. He stared at the referee, gazed at Houck and then threw his arms in the air and leaned through the ropes.

Houck put up a magnificent battle and outpointed his opponent 3 to 1. He had a big advantage in ten rounds while Crouse could possibly be given an even break in the other two chapters.

McInnias Makes a Speech.

Before the first bout of the evening started, it was believed that McInnis was to referee. McInnis was in the ring and

Carey of Pittsburg Has Difficult Task

PITTSBURG, May 8.—No youngster who has broken into the major leagues in recent years has faced a harder task than the one Max Carey of the Pittsburg Pirates is undertaking this year. The former Central Leaguer, who made a fair showing last season in his first years' work in big league society, has been called upon to fill the shoes of none other than the incomparable Fred Clarke.

From 1894 until the first year Fred Clarke was the last word in the art of playing the outfield. There have been players who have approached the great Pittsburg chief, but it is doubtful if his equal ever has been seen in any one player for any length of time.

Clarke has retired and young Carey is trying to do the great veteran's work. What the fans will miss many of the famous sliding catches seems almost certain. Carey can fall far short of Clarke and still be a first-class player.

RILEY'S COLUMN

CHICAGO beat Washington yesterday, which boosted the Red Sox back into second place, and there they stand today. By grace of rain at Pittsburg, the Pilgrims are still a first division team.

* * *

TF Charley Hall can keep up his remarkable work in the box, the Tigers are booked for another downfall today, and a worse beating than they suffered yesterday when, though finishing gamely, they could only make within one run of enough to tie the Red Sox.

* * *

HALL is still in rare form and, with good batting and fielding support, he ought to go through with another victory. The Tigers are not fighting quite as vigorously as they did a year ago and previously. In Detroit they complain as usual, of dissension in the team because of Ty Cobb's domineering attitude. Cobb does like to boss 'em around, but the rest of the Tigers can easily ignore the "Georgia Peach" and play fast ball for themselves, if they only try. Although the greatest ball player of them all, Cobb is still far from being a manager, and the rest of his team will not help themselves by sulking—if they do.

* * *

BUSH'S two errors yesterday were excusable. Gardner passed in front of him on a hit came spinning towards Dunn and it went between his legs. To the other case he made a great stop near third, and threw poorly because it was hard to recover himself.

* * *

COBB'S error was excusable, too. Wagner's hit was away to his right, and when it came to him, Tyrus was on the run and booted the ball.

* * *

THE Sox misplays were different. Cobb drove one directly at Engle and he simply missed it. Wagner took Moriarty's liner handily and had Delehanty half-way between first and second for a double-play, with plenty of time to throw him out with ease. Instead, he shot the ball fifteen feet wide of first base. The error would have resulted in a run, but for Hooper's throw to the plate, catching Delehanty when he tried to score on Stanage's single. Carrigan made his "bobble" throwing to second after a passed ball, and it gave the Tigers a score.

* * *

DELEHANTY did some hitting in the first Tigers-Sox game, slamming out three safe ones in four tries.

* * *

JOE WOOD had good luck in the seventh. With men on second and third and two out, Cobb was up. Wood was tempted to pass Cobb and play for Crawford, but he counted Crawford as dangerous as Cobb. To hit the ball a stinging wallop and it looked like a single, which would have won the game. But Wagner was right there and nailed it. As a matter of fact, the Red Sox had the better of the luck throughout.

G. B. LEAGUE PLANS OPENING

The Greater Boston Baseball League schedule is announced today. The season will open on Thursday, May 16, and conclude on September 7, the schedule calling for an even hundred contests.

Six teams will comprise the league, Lynn, Dorchester, South Boston, Everett, Chelsea, Malden Medford and Somerville. All six clubs are well fixed with players, and in the line-up will be some of the best semi-professional players developed in New England.

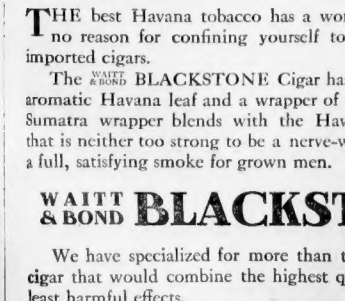
The players have been hard at work for the past week in preparation of the league opening, and a bunch of well conditioned ball players will start the season. Each team has selected its manager and players and the organizers of the league predict a successful season.

Dorchester, Malden and Everett will be the scenes of the opening battles. Games will be played daily, and in case of postponement the game will be played off as double-headers after July 4.

Few Good Sprinters in Large Colleges

NEW YORK, May 8.—This year's crop of college sprinters is so far below the average that members of the Olympic games team committee believe they will have to depend almost entirely upon the athletic clubs for capable short distance athletes to represent the United States.

This opinion is based partly on the performances at the Pennsylvania relay carnival a week ago, when it is said the poorest lot of sprinters seen at a big college meet in several years faced the starter. The chief hope of the college contingent will be placed in Marshall of Pennsylvania. Curry of the United States Military Academy, Wasson of Notre Dame, Wilson of Yale College. Curry may be unable to make the journey to Sweden. He has run a century in 9 4-5 seconds on the track at Annapolis, and is regarded as the best sprinter in the college world. Mike Murphy considers Marshall a consistent 10 seconds man.



THE best Havana tobacco has a wonderful flavor. But that is no reason for confining yourself to smoking costly and heavy imported cigars.

The WAITT & BOND BLACKSTONE Cigar has a filler of the finest long aromatic Havana leaf and a wrapper of filmy, silky Sumatra. This Sumatra wrapper blends with the Havana filler to make a cigar that is neither too strong to be a nerve-wrecker nor too weak to be a full, satisfying smoke for grown men.

WAITT & BOND BLACKSTONE CIGAR 10c

We have specialized for more than thirty years in producing a cigar that would combine the highest quality and aroma with the least harmful effects.

To rid your mind of the imported Havana bugaboo and switch to WAITT & BOND BLACKSTONE means a saving of more than money—though the amount of money thus saved will not be small.

BLACK DRESS SHIRT SPONSOR STARTLES LONDON PLAYGOERS

LONDON, May 8.—The audience at the Lyric Theatre kept their eyes roving about with the object of discovering if a new style in men's evening dress, introduced by an unknown individual at the criterion Theatre, had been adopted by other dudes who foregather at London theatres.

The individual in question sat in the stalls, wearing a jet-black shirt, starched and fashionably frilled. By way of relief he sported a white collar, a white stock tie and a white waistcoat. It is suggested that a better effect might have been obtained had he worn white duck trousers.

DELEGATES OF KANSAS WILL BE FOR ROOSEVELT

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., May 8.—The Republican State convention, which will be called to order at noon today to name four delegates-at-large to the National convention, will endorse the candidacy of Colonel Roosevelt for the Presidential nomination and instruct the delegates for him.

William Allen White of Emporia will be endorsed for National Committeeman.

The makeup of the delegation appeared to be: Henry J. Allen, Wichita; Ralph Harris, Ottawa; John Laughlin, Independence, and Asael Clark of Rice County.

URGES UNITED WELFARE WORK

Karl Carstens, secretary of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, said today that reform work must get down below the surface and must search out the causes that make for non-support, corner loafing and such conditions.

Mr. Carstens was speaking of the welfare work that is being undertaken, particularly in Roxbury, where thirty-five neighborhood societies are striving for united effort and co-operation.

Work for General Good.

"We are trying," said Mr. Carstens, "to do in our own Boston way what Chicago is doing through her Juvenile Protective Association. That Western organization has divided the city into fourteen districts where agents of the society have been set to work to make one of each coordinate in all good efforts of every local body interested in the betterment of the section. Churches, settlements, city charities, schools, health boards, health societies, hospitals, police, women's clubs and improvement organizations are all lending their aid toward a general and well-thought-of plan for community improvement.

"And the best of this is that no society loses its individuality, but duplication is prevented and a common goal established for which to work that brings about changes in one year which might otherwise take many years, or not be accomplished at all.

Seek Underlying Cause.

"In short, the best a society like ours or any other society can do is to become busy in preventing conditions that will eventually necessitate poor relief, imprisonment, separation of families and all of the cruel list of attempted cures. Let us get down below the surface; search out the causes that make for non-support and corner loafing and thus head off the necessity for such disciplinary measures."

KING GEORGE HONORS BRAVE ABORIGINE

LONDON, May 8.—King George has awarded the Albert life saving medal to an aboriginal Australian called "Neighbor." The latter was a prisoner and was being led by a neck chain by a trooper. While the pair were crossing a swollen stream the trooper's horse got into difficulties and dislodged his rider, whom he kicked in the face. The trooper was being swept off by the current when "Neighbor," scorning the opportunity to escape, rescued his captor after the greatest difficulty.

13 ESCAPE FIRE IN WEST END; LAD RESCUES FATHER

Israel Ternovsin, twenty years of age, saved his father from suffocating to death, early today by carrying him down a fire escape from the fourth floor of the building at No. 22 Barton street, West End, when the man had been overcome by smoke from a fire which started on the third floor. Thirteen other occupants also fled down the fire escape. Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Kesselmann and their four children, Ternovita's sisters, Anna, aged 14; Eva, aged 13, and Dora, aged 4, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Katz and their two children were those driven out. The building is owned by Jacob Watchmaker of No. 21 Howland street, Roxbury. The damage is estimated at $500. The cause is unknown.

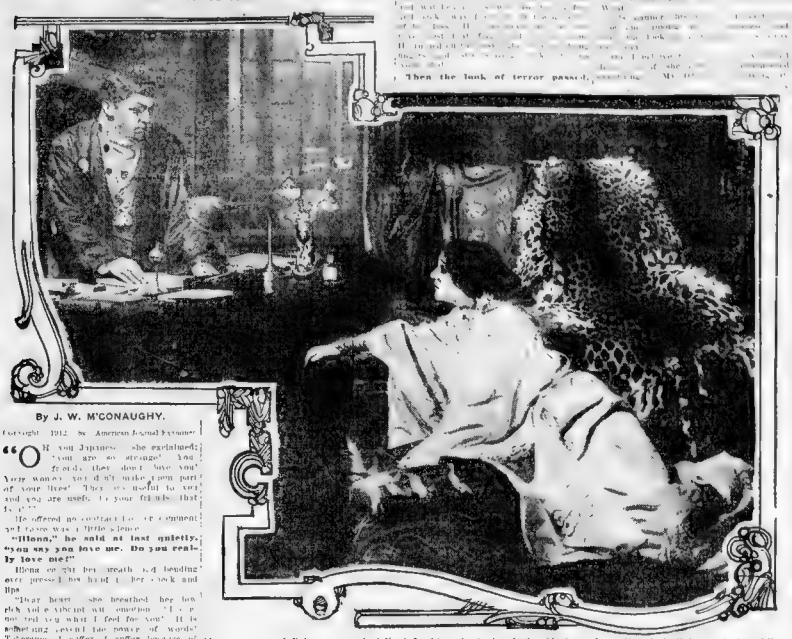
A Story of Japanese Platters—Love, Mystery and Tragedy Based on the Great Play Now Running in New York

THE JAPANESE, TERRIFIED AT THE SPELL CAST OVER HIM BY ILLONA, THRUSTS HER FROM HIM.



His eyes never left her—never lost that frightened, staring look. He turned on the desk light with trembling fingers. "I must work," he said in his metallic voice.

By J. W. M'CONAUGHY.

"OH you Japanese," she exclaimed; "you are so strange! You [illegible] they don't love you! Very many you did not make from part of your lives! They are fearful to you and you are useful to your friends that [illegible]."

He offered no resistance to her exposure, yet he gave a little silence.

"Illona," he said at last quietly, "you say you love me. Do you really love me?"

Illona caught her breath and bending over pressed her head to her cheek and lips.

"Dear heart," she breathed, her [illegible] with emotion, "I love you! I cannot tell you what I feel for you! It is nothing—words! No power of words! To express I suffer because of you! All my life seems to have been caught up suddenly and I am helpless in the grip of this mad, raging love! And I am helpless and useless in your eyes! Is it with I suffer!"

Tokoromo reached up with his free hand and patted her arm.

"Ah, no," he protested gently. "If I would you love me, if you would [illegible] she went on, in the same tone. If you would let [illegible]."

"I do, I do!"

The words shook her head and smiled down at him. "And it is terrible you should suspect me of [illegible] are as the same, never sad, never glad always calm." She paused and her eyes gazed [illegible] and then she went on: "And yet you should [illegible] you are free, happy, no [illegible] with a [illegible] for [illegible] you after all, will you not?"

He pressed a [illegible] both his own.

"Oh, no," he protested, [illegible] feelings. "You are my Illona! It only [illegible]."

He hesitated. Sue Sent over him, coldly. Then:

"Was it? Say it, Tokoromo! Say it," she whispered. He leaned up into her eyes.

"The only slight spot in all this alien world of [illegible]."

She [illegible] pressed his head close to her breast for an instant and drew a deep, quick breath.

"Ah! It is good to hear us say that!" she exclaimed softly. He patted her arm and smiled.

"I did!"

Illona drew her arm away.

"Don't say that to me! I command you in a voice that seemed almost to carry some note warning of threat. "I am no a child! I [illegible] ears say a little and in [illegible] I feel as if I [illegible] you a of sadness had rolled across my heart. Oh, I wonder were I a Japanese would you understand me?"

He gently pressed the hand he still held. "I am a man, Illona, and you are a woman [illegible] And the only talking that stand between us are the traditions and mists is of our races."

"A man and a woman," she repeated softly, and both were silent for a time. Outside [illegible] the night. But the sadness of the mood passed quickly with Illona as all moods did until at last she put both hands over his eyes and pressed his head against her knee. "Close your eyes, darling," she said, and I will be telling to you. I will enter into your life, into your thoughts—as if we were one!" She paused and he sat still and passive under her touch. "Now—now!" she whispered. "Now you are in Japan—home—home!"

"Home!" he echoed softly.

"In your room in Tokio." Through the window [illegible] the sweet fragrance of Spring—everything is beautiful!"

"Spring—Tokio!" he repeated, as if under a hypnotic spell. "The cherry blossoms, the budding azaleas, the thousand [illegible] with eyes [illegible] approaching [illegible] Who what [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] and look [illegible] her [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

I.—PURSUED BY COSSACKS.

After him, boys! Claude is heading the band of fierce Cossacks in the wild chase for Rosamond, who is in the power of that international crook, Desmond. It is a wild chase, but the hardy Cossacks and their hardy ponies can keep it up all day, and Claude feels sure that sooner or later he will regain his beloved sweetheart, Rosamond.

II.—THE PEASANTS MEET.

As Desmond hurries along with the captive, Rosamond, he observes a crowd of peasants arguing excitedly over some matter. His curiosity is aroused, and he heads for the peasants, remembering also that if he can obtain a peasant's costume the disguise may enable him to escape Claude and the Cossacks and carry Rosamond safely out of Europe.

III.—THE VILLAIN'S OFFER.

Quickly Desmond realizes that the meeting is of a political nature, and that the peasants want to gain some concession from the Czar. Instantly the villain promises to risk his life and personally present the petition to the Little Father, provided that one of the crowd presents him with a complete costume. Needless to say, the stranger's offer is at once accepted.

IV.—BACK WITH THE PAPERS.

Desmond, who at first had no intention of presenting the petition, remembered that with the concession obtained he would command the allegiance of the peasants. So the villain actually entered the presence of the Czar and the Czar actually granted the petition. Now Desmond joyfully rushes back to the peasants, bearing with him the signed papers.

V.—HAY FOR DESMOND.

Claude now appears upon the scene and believes that Desmond is near, but he cannot spot the scoundrel. Our hero sees the great crowd of peasants, rejoicing over some great triumph, but there is no visible indication of Desmond's presence, although it is Desmond that has given the muzjiks cause for their jubilation over a remittance of taxation.

VI.—DISCOVERED.

"I'm the boyski!" cries Desperate Desmond, "but I'm recognized by Claude's vitels. Curskies!" The enthusiastic peasants have raised Desmond high in the air to show their appreciation of his bravery in getting the petition signed, and this act has enabled Claude to locate Desmond's whereabouts. How our hero will capture Claude will be known tomorrow.

I'LL NOT WAIT ANOTHER MINUTE FOR SHERLOCKO! HIS NOTE DISTINCTLY SAIS TO AWAIT HIM HERE AT 6 SHARP, AND HERE I'VE WAITED 2 HOURS!
AH, HERE YOU ARE — A FINE WAY TO TREAT ME, EH SHERLOCKO? YOUR NOTE SAYS 6, AND HERE YOU HAVEN'T EVEN STARTED!
HM! — LET ME SEE THAT NOTE OF MINE YOU SPEAK OF, WATSO.
HA! HA! WHY EVEN A BLIND MAN COULD SEE THAT THIS SCRIBBLING IS NOT MY HANDWRITING!
AND DO YOU SMELL THIS STRONG ODOR OF TOBACCO COME, I THINK I CAN TAKE YOU TO THE PLACE WHERE THIS NOTE WAS WRITTEN AND INTRODUCE YOU TO THE AUTHOR!
JAKE'S CAFE
THERE'S YOUR MAN, WATSO!
OH THE VILLAIN!
A HALF HOUR AGO WATSO WAS STILL WAITING THERE, WITH THE NOTE I SENT, FOR SHERLOCKO, HA! HA
JOKO, YOU'RE THE LIMIT!

SEEK IDENTITY OF BODY IN RIVER

LOWELL, May 8.—The police are trying to discover the identity and manner of death of a month-old boy whose body was found floating on the Merrimac River. Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs will perform an autopsy today. Patrick Kelley of No. 21 Stanley street found the body. It was in a pillow case tied at the mouth. Across the mouth of the infant was tied a piece of cloth. A rope circled the body. It was tied to the other end of the rope was a stone.

SPARROWS ON TOAST LATEST DELICACY

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The way to get rid of the English sparrow is to eat him. This is the conclusion of N. E. D. Dearborn, expert biologist of the Department of Agriculture, given full authority action by the department today. In specifying methods of preparing the birds for the kitchen the bulletin gives the following directions: "Cut off the legs, the wings and the outer joint of the neck close to the body. Strip off the skin, beginning at the neck. Make a cut through the body wall till the ribs are severed, then around between the legs and the tail and remove the viscera. Sparrows may be cooked by any one of the methods employed for meat birds."

MOTORCYCLES ON INSTALMENTS

No Matter Where You Live

$175.00 TO $400.00

For business or pleasure you can enjoy the Pierce Arrow while paying for it, besides saving time and carfare by its use, so that a Pierce Arrow soon pays for itself. If those who formerly rode bicycles know how easy it is to operate a Pierce Arrow Motorcycle we could not begin to supply the demand.

Are YOU going to be one of the lucky ones to get in on our special proposition? In a few days the terms will be less easy, and very soon will be all cash, and machines scarce at that. TODAY you can do business with us. We have the best machine in the world for $250. Come at once, or write, and let us get together on a trade.

The Wills of Three Rich Men—Harriman, Sage, Astor

And the Lesson They Teach as to Marriage and Wealth.

Copyright, 1912, by American Journal Examiner

The whole world feels admiration for John Jacob Astor.

He died a brave man, and under the heavy handicap of inherited wealth he lived the life of a good citizen, volunteering his services in time of war, always ready to share in any public-spirited movement.

It is, therefore, with the kindest feeling that the world discusses today the will of John Jacob Astor, and the lesson that it teaches concerning lives that are idle and husbands and wives that live apart, contrasted with the lives of a husband and wife, working hand in hand, living together, and winning success by helping each other.

Recently in this country three very rich men have died.

Russell Sage died. He began with nothing except courage and a belief in the old-fashioned idea of marriage as a permanent institution.

He and his wife worked side by side for nearly half a century. He LEFT EVERY DOLLAR HE HAD TO HIS WIFE.

His will said in substance to the world that he had accumulated the millions and tens of millions year after year—that was HIS part of the work.

And now he gave the money to his faithful, life-long companion to use in accordance with her unselfish and wise nature.

Most nobly Mrs. Sage has devoted her life and her fortune to her husband's trust.

Next came the death of E. H. Harriman, a giant in nation building, one whom this country will remember as a builder of roads and an opener of new lands, long after his detractors shall have been forgotten.

E. H. Harriman was a poor young man when he married. His wife, on the contrary, was well to-do. It did not seem to the world a very brilliant match for her when she married the penniless son of a poor clergyman.

That was a marriage in which the husband and the wife lived and worked together. Genius in the brain of Harriman built thousands of miles of railroads, simplified management, practiced wise economies, increased profits—and when Harriman died at an age when his real work should only have begun, he left many scores of millions.

And he left every dollar to the wife who had lived with him and worked with him.

His will was the shortest great will on record.

It told the world that in death, as in life, his one thought was for his wife, the mother of his children, the friend of his whole life.

And Mrs. Harriman, intelligently and wisely, for the good of the public in endless directions, is spending the great fortune that her husband left her.

There you have the lives and the wills of two American citizens.

Now comes the will of John Jacob Astor.

The young man was born with a load that few can carry successfully—tremendous wealth.

He was inevitably the object of the pursuit of scheming mothers and of cold-hearted social parasites.

He married twice.

From the first wife he was divorced.

HIS WILL LEAVES HER NOT ONE DOLLAR.

He married again, a young and attractive girl. HIS WILL LEAVES HER BUT $100,000 OUTRIGHT, a house and the income from a trust fund of $5,000,000, to cease if she remarries or dies.

Before each marriage, of course, he made suitable provision in accordance with his ideas for the woman he was about to marry.

Nearly every dollar that he owned goes to his children. Not a cent to one wife and but a tiny share of his estate to the other.

There is a text for those that discuss the question, "Is Marriage a Failure?" and for those that wonder whether the marriage institution is to endure.

There is a lesson also for those that are interested in the effect of inherited wealth upon the average human being.

Not one marriage in one hundred can stand the blighting effect of wealth unlimited and self-indulgence unlimited from the marriage day, and not one human being in a hundred can endure the load of wealth inherited.

Praiseworthy and unusual is the man who in spite of wealth, and the absence of all necessity driving him to work, still works and does his share.

And honorable the man born rich, flattered and encouraged in egotism, who retains his capacity for affectionate devotion and his fitness for marriage and its deep responsibilities.

The world need never worry about the institution of marriage or think that it will end.

The only problem is, HOW SOON WILL HUMAN BEINGS BECOME WORTHY OF THAT INSTITUTION!

You see the best men, the ablest and the greatest, living faithful married lives, and proving at the end absolute devotion to the wife left behind.

As human beings improve, marriage will improve, becoming sacred, universal and permanent.

The Stars of Spring

Majestic March of the Vernal Constellations Over the Awakening Earth

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

IN the daytime man thinks of himself and his business; at night he thinks of God and the affairs of the Universe. The setting of the sun is like the withdrawal of a curtain. As the blue dome of day rolls off the sky the spectacle revealed over our heads puts all the petty scenes of the earth to shame, and every human being who gazes at it becomes, in his degree, a thinker, a poet and a philosopher. Every night this great school of nature is open, and the man is mad who does not enter under its portals and sit down like a child to learn its lessons. Then only is his spirit free, then only does he feel his kinship with the infinite and the eternal.

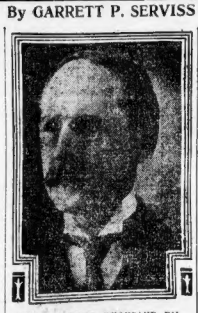
A new term of this never-closing celestial school begins with the Spring. The great constellations of Winter pass from the sky with the ceaseless revolution of the vast panorama, and others, accordant with the character of the season, move majestically into their places. Go out under the firmament tonight if the sky be clear, or tomorrow night, or the night after, and see for yourself what the rolling universe is. If you look with intelligence and humbleness you will be the better for it through all your after life.

Low in the West You Will See the Mighty Constellation Orion

Low in the West in the early evening you will catch sight of the mighty constellation of Orion just setting behind the hills, with its two great stars, Rigel (whites and Betelgeuse (ruddy), each of them probably TEN THOUSAND TIMES A GREATER SUN THAN OURS. Between them shine the three stars of the "Belt," and all around the sky is sprinkled with lesser brilliants. Further south, right on the horizon, blazes Sirius, the star of the Nile, for whose worship immense temples were built in Egypt. To our eyes, because of its relative nearness, it is the brightest of all the stars, although it is not really the greatest.

Further eastward, and therefore higher in the sky is the lone Procyon, north of that the twin star of Gemini, Castor and Pollux; still further north the square-shouldered Auriga, with the splendid white Capella glittering on his breast. That star is more than a hundred times greater than our sun, and the spectroscope shows that it consists of nearly the same substances, in almost the same condition. It is his giant brother of stellar age, but it is immense in their distance from the earth, that only the astronomer, with his delicate means of measurement, can detect their motion. But we know that the time will come when the figure of the "Great Bear" will dissolve like a face in the clouds. The whole universe is in motion, and every star has its allotted course; but sometimes, as in this case, they appear to go in companies, bound together by ties of which we know nothing. Our own sun has companions in his flight, and he is not the captain of his company.

In the northeast, chasing Ursa Major round the pole, appears Bootes, the "Bear-Driver." You will recognize him by a magnificent golden star, Arcturus, the star whose praise was sung by Job from the deserts of Ancient Arabia. Run your eye along the curving handle of the dipper, carry it on twice as far as the length of the handle, and you will find Arcturus. It is worth the search, for Arcturus is another of the "giant suns" of the universe, perhaps 5,000 times as great as ours. But the spectroscope shows that it is older. It is beginning to fade, and is entering on the earlier stages of extinction. Vast masses of condensing metallic vapors are beginning to obscure its light, and in a few millions of years—which are as nothing in the life of the universe—Arcturus will have ceased to shine and will vanish out of the heavens, as many great suns have already done.



TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND BILLIONS OF MILES AWAY.

All these constitute the rear guard of the Winter constellations, now withdrawing in the West, while the army of the stars of Spring advances upon their heels. The first of the Spring constellations that arrests our attention is Leo, the Lion. You will see it high in the South, near where the sun is not long after noon in the late Summer, and you will recognize it at once by the sickle-shaped figure marked out by the stars forming the head and breast of the imaginary lion. At the lower end of the handle of this sickle glows the great star Regulus, lying close to the ecliptic, which is the annual path of the sun through the sky. Regulus is not as bright to the eye as Capella, but it is a far greater sun, equal to thousands of ours. Yet it is his brother, too; but whose imagination can picture the scenes upon the worlds which are revolving in its brilliant light?

Turn your face northward after looking at Regulus, and carry your eyes almost overhead. There you will see, above the North Star, the "Great Bear." Ursa Major, whose flank and long tail are represented by a figure looking like a huge dipper turned upside down, with its open bowl toward the North. The seven stars forming the outline of the dipper are, with one exception, all of equal magnitude, as judged by the eye. Five of them are flying eastward and two westward, with a speed of hundreds of thousands of miles per day; yet so immense is their distance from the earth, that only the astronomer, with his delicate means of measurement, can detect their motion. But we know that the time will come when the figure of the "Great Bear" will dissolve like a face in the clouds. The whole universe is in motion, and every star has its allotted course; but sometimes, as in this case, they appear to go in companies, bound together by ties of which we know nothing. Our own sun has companions in his flight, and he is not the captain of his company.

In the northeast, chasing Ursa Major round the pole, appears Bootes, the "Bear-Driver." You will recognize him by a magnificent golden star, Arcturus, the star whose praise was sung by Job from the deserts of Ancient Arabia. Glories of Heavens Are Somewhat Obscured by Full Moon.

At the beginning of the month you will find that all these glories of the starry heavens are somewhat obscured by the presence of the full moon. Our little satellite, palely reflecting the light of our little sun, will throw a silvery radiance over the heavens, which is very agreeable in itself, but which seems an impertinence when it serves to hide a part of the more glorious splendor behind. However, the moon is swift-footed as well as "inconstant," and she will quickly pass round her small orbit, changing her mask night after night, until the great suns shine out in a dome illuminated by them alone. It may interest many readers to know that May will have two full moons—on the 1st and the 30th.

In the course of the month the mighty planet Jupiter will begin to reveal himself in the eastern sky after sunset, and we may have something to say about him later.

DR. C. H. PARKHURST

EVEN though the doctrine of future punishment, in the form in which that doctrine was once held, is offensive to many people of the present day, yet there are times when, in the face of some hideous crime, it almost seems as though the criminal ought to be visited with some retribution severer than any that it is in man's power to inflict, and that some arrangement ought to be made whereby, in some future stage of existence, the villain should meet his deserts, if for no other reason than that the respectability of God's government might be preserved.

In the same way, although the doctrine of depravity, especially of total depravity, is not endorsed with the enthusiasm with which it was entertained some generations ago, yet there is now and then a person so thoroughly bad, so essentially mean, that it is difficult to conceive of him as other than saturated clear to the core with the pestilential virus.

And one of the meanest, the most diabolical features of human character is evinced in the disposition to give publicity to the moral delinquencies of others, and in some instances even to ostracize them socially because of conditions for which the outcast is not himself or herself personally responsible.

Such an instance has been recently brought to rather public attention by the case of a respectable girl, twenty-one years of age, a resident of this city, who when a year old was picked up as a foundling, adopted into an honorable family, where she has lived for twenty years, and who has just become insane—permanently so, it is feared—on being informed of her obscure and probably "ignoble" origin, by some viciously disposed outside party.

Which is to say that she has been bereft of reason and made candidate for the mad-house because feeling herself the victim of public contempt, not because of any crime of her own, not because there is any charge alleged against her of being other than morally immaculate, but because of some presumable offence committed by her father and mother.

Now that, I dare to say, is atrocious, and Pharisaic society could be of a finer disposition and about better business than to elbow out of the world and brand with ignominy a girl otherwise honorably, but who, because of a sin not her own, falls into the class of the illegitimate.

We may blame the parents as much as we please, but blame should be fixed where blame belongs and nowhere else.

Reputability and disreputability are matters of the individual.

Taint is not necessarily hereditary.

Illegitimates have as much inherent right to be respected, loved and married as anybody else.

Society would be in a more promising condition if it took more seriously its own iniquities and were less squeamish about conditions which, however unfortunate superficially, are inherently unimpeachable.

THERE are certain changes needing to be made in our social life, changes which are rather generally recognized as desirable and even necessary, but which involve so wide a departure from what is at present in vogue that it is only by a continued process of argumentation and education that the public mind can be brought to the point of action.

One such change, to be noticed in this article, has to do with requiring candidates for marriage to come before the officiating clergyman, or civil official, equipped with a certificate furnished by a reputable physician testifying to the physical fitness of the intending parties and to the fact of their sound mentality and their freedom from incurable or contagious disease.

This would include, of course, tuberculosis and whatever other malady is still more undermining mentally and more infectious and destructive physically.

Were this principle formulated into a statute, and were all clergymen, other qualified officials and physicians beyond the reach of graft, the number of marriages would be considerably reduced, among the higher social classes as well as among the lower.

It is exceedingly unfortunate that some facts vital to the interests of society are unprintable.

The Episcopal church, which is more pronounced upon the question of marriages than most nonconformist bodies, has asserted its sympathy with the position above stated by coming out, and in the person of the Dean of the Cathedral of Saints Peter and Paul, in Chicago, declaring officially that none of the clergy connected with the parish will hereafter celebrate any marriage unless the intending parties present themselves furnished with a clean bill of health attested by a reponsible physicin.

This clerical action converts the idea, which is good in itself, into a concrete fact which is still better.

A thing done, even though it be done by but a few, signifies more than a thing approvingly talked about, even though it be talked about by a crowd.

The needs of society are more urgent than the matrimonial ambition of any number of men or women unfit to be husband and wife, or to be the producers of children.

The Burglar

By PERCY SHAW

THERE'S a burglar I know
And his footsteps are light
As a bird's on the snow,
And his smile is as bright
As the sun's when it peers
From a cloud in the Spring,
And his piping voice cheers
Like a thrush on the wing.

In the dawn's early blush
He descends on my room,
While I wait in the hush
Forewarned of my doom.
I pretend I am deep
Where the sleep shadow lies
Till I feel his hands creep
Over each of my eyes.

There is mirth in his tone
As he calls me by name;
As he asks if he's known
And the reason he came.
There's a shake of his head
When I tell him I guess
That he slipped from his bed
To remind me to dress.

Is a burglar so meek?
No, a burglar must steal.
So he seizes my cheek
With a jubilant squeal.
With the subtlest of art
He bows and he trips
And he bears off my heart
With one touch of his lips.
